Bingham Raps GOP Record

Traffic Safety Is Seen State Issue

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Harriman's secretary declared today that traffic safety would be a key state issue in the fall election.

Jonathan Bingham, who is taking leave from Harriman's staff next month to campaign for a Bronx seat in the State Senate, told a Democratic Political Institute in a prepared speech:

"One of the key issues... will be provided by the refusal of the Republican majority of the Legislature to accept the governor's major recommendations for a comprehensive traffic safety program."

Ave's Measures Beaten

Bingham said the GOP - controlled Legislature had killed measures proposed by Harriman's committee on traffic safety that would have eliminated the quarter-mile rule preventing the use of stationary electronic speed devices on state highways, provided for automatic suspension of licenses of drivers convicted of speeding twice in 12 months, and given the Motor Vehicles Commissioner authority to suspend licenses of accident repeaters.

"As the toll of accidents rises during the summer months," Bingham declared, "the majority leader of the Legislature will have much to answer for."

The two-day institute at Syracuse University opened Friday. It is sponsored by the Young Democrats' division of the Democratic State Committee.

Beirut Showdown Near As New Battles Erupt

BEIRUT (AP) — Heavy fighting erupted today inside Beirut. It looked like a showdown battle between government and rebel forces.

It was by far the worst battle in the capital since the rebellion began in Lebanon 36 days ago.

At least three big battles were being fought between security forces and insurgents who are trying to overthrow the pro-Western government of President Camille Chamoun.

One of the battles was raging around The Associated Press office in the Zerk district on the edge of a Moslem quarter. The fighters were blasting away with pistols, rifles, machineguns and mortars.

The most intensive firing occurred in the area between The Associated Press office and the Presidential Palace, about 300 yards away.

Another big battle was being fought about 300 yards in the opposite direction, in the Moslem quarter of Basta, the barricaded sector used as rebel headquarters.

The third battle was raging on the city's outskirts for Ramel Prison.

It was not immediately known which side had launched the first attack.

But, with U.N. observers moving into Lebanon, it could be a desperate insurgent attempt to bring down the government.

It also could be a government offensive to wipe out insurgents holed up in the Basta district. The government outlawed the three rebel political parties Friday.

In banning the opposition parties, Premier Sami Solh accused them of undermining the security of this east Mediterranean republic—the playground of the Middle East.

Says Adams Has Lost Usefulness

Potter Asks Full Story on Favors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Charles Potter of Michigan said today Sherman Adams "has lost his usefulness to the administration" unless he can account more fully for expensive favors from Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

But despite a swelling political furor over President Eisenhower's top aide it seemed likely that no further explanation would be forthcoming from the time being.

Confidence Remains

Under persistent questioning by newsmen, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty Friday refused to go beyond Adams' written explanation Thursday to a House subcommittee that earlier produced evidence Goldfine paid some $2,000 in Boston hotel bills for Adams over a four-year period. And Hagerty repeated that Eisenhower has complete confidence in Adams and has no intention of firing him.

In Other Matters

Meanwhile, Goldfine was involved in two other developments:

1. The New York Herald Tribune reported Goldfine was under investigation by the Criminal Division of the Justice Department, which it said had subpoenaed certain books and records of the New England millionaire. A spokesman for the Justice Department declined to comment on the report.

2. Sen. Frederick G. Payne (R-Maine) said he received a vicuna coat from Goldfine some time ago. He described Goldfine as a "long and close friend" who had never asked any favors. Payne said his family had exchanged gifts with the Goldfines at Christmas time.

In a letter to subcommittee Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark.), Adams acknowledged he had been a hotel guest of Goldfine in Boston and Plymouth, Mass. Describing Goldfine as an old friend, Adams said he had thought Goldfine kept the hotel rooms on a permanent basis.

Although saying he had contacted two federal regulator agencies on cases involving Goldfine, Adams said insinuations that he had sought or obtained favored treatment for his friend were unwarranted and unfair.

Not Available to Press

Hagerty, who said Adams had knocked the favored treatment allegations "into a cocked hat," as reported, had accepted a $700 vicuna coat or a $4,000 Oriental rug from Goldfine. Adams' letter said nothing about a coat or a rug. He has been unavailable to newsmen.

Subcommittee Counsel Robert W. Lishman said he has no evidence Adams received such gifts from the wealthy Boston industrialist.

Meanwhile, the House subcommittee checking influence on federal regulatory agencies focused on hearings starting Monday that might shed light on whether Adams swung federal favors for his Boston friend.

No Evidence of Aid

So far, there has been no evidence on the subcommittee record as to whether Adams helped Goldfine.

Roseton Trustees Attack State Order To Consolidate Newburgh Area Schools

An order of State Commissioner of Education James E. Allen Jr., to consolidate and create an enlarged school district of the City of Newburgh by consolidation of various common school districts in Orange County, has been attacked by the trustees of Roseton Common School District No. 5, Town of Newburgh, one of the districts included in the consolidation.

Supreme Court Justice Isadore Bookstein on Thursday, signed an order to show cause, returnable at Troy on Friday, June 20, why the consolidation order should not be vacated.

Charles H. Gaffney, attorney for petitioners, attacks the order of the Commissioner of Education made on May 19, 1958, which includes the Roseton district, on the grounds that the order is not made in compliance of the law.

The Roseton district is non-contiguous to the city of Newburgh and counsel for the trustees and other individuals as taxpayers, allege that the law specifically states that the consolidated districts must be "contiguous."

The show cause order stays a special school meeting or election scheduled to be held on June 25, 1958.

On March 14, 1958, it is alleged 137 of a total of 147 eligible voters of the Roseton district signed a petition requesting that the Commissioner of Education promulgate an order dissolving Roseton Common School District No. 5 of the Town of Newburgh, and annexing the territory to Central School District No. 1, Town of Marlboro.

On April 15, 1958, the board of education of Marlboro Central School voted to accept Roseton into the district.

The Roseton District favored annexation to the Marlboro Central School. At that time 91 of the 98 qualified voters who attended the meeting voted in favor of annexation to Marlboro.

The petition of Gaffney recites that in spite of the action of the voters of Roseton District the Commissioner made an order including the district in the Newburgh district, and further that the Roseton district is not contiguous to the Newburgh district as the law specifically provides it must be included. There are three other districts not contiguous to Newburgh included in the order of consolidation, Vails Gate District No. 3; Middlehope, District No. 9; and Orange Lake District No. 3.

It is in the Roseton Common School District No. 5, that the multi-million dollar Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation Damaskamer power plant is located.

Further to ascertain the sentiment of the district, the trustees of Roseton district called a special meeting on May 28 and submitted the question of whether or not the qualified voters of

$100,640 Paid Out To County Jobless

Increase in Benefits Goes to 1,725; 285,000 in N. Y. Get Over $17 Million

Total payments of $100,640 in retroactive increases to 1,725 claimants in Ulster County under New York State unemployment insurance benefits were announced today by Anthony C. Hart, manager of the local office of the Division of Employment, 18 Pine Grove Avenue.

Gov. Harriman, meanwhile, announced payments in the state totalled over $17 million to 285,000 persons. The governor said payment was completed two months ahead of schedule.

Averaged $59.60

The additional payments averaged $59.60 and ran as high as $234, he said.

Under legislation signed by the governor March 27 maximum unemployment benefits were increased from $36 a week to $45 a week. The increases were retroactive to July 1, 1957.

Harriman said the payments put $17 million of additional purchasing power into the hands of 285,000 families "at a time when it is so much needed." He praised Acting Industrial Commissioner Charles W. Halloran and the staff of the Division of Employment for working nights and Saturdays to complete "the tremendous job" two months ahead of schedule.

Commissioner Halloran reported that in identifying those entitled to the retroactive payments all active and inactive files were checked, all persons possibly entitled to back payment were identified, necessary wage information was secured to 205,000 inquiries to employers.

Benefit rate adjustments were calculated and individual back payment checks were put into the mails, Halloran said. Halloran told the governor "all but a handful of especially difficult cases, most of them waiting the outcome of previously initiated hearings on issues of eligibility, have been disposed of."

Ave Lands Cooperation
Harriman lauded the cooperation of employers for promptly supplying necessary wage information and organized labor in advising its membership.

He also praised newsmen for their assistance.

"I now want to urge any person who has not received payment he believes is due him to ask his unemployment insurance office for a ruling. We believe the Division's review of its records has identified everyone entitled to payment, but there is

Gotham's Tax Bill $285,000 Annually for Downsville Dam

DOWNSVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—The New York City Water Supply Board has agreed to pay taxes on an assessment of 19 million dollars for its Downsville dam on the Pepacton Reservoir. The tax bill will be $285,000 a year.

The board had argued for a valuation of two million, or a tax bill of $30,000 a year.

A settlement was reached this week by the board and the Town of Colchester after hearings before William Fischer of Binghamton, who served as a State Supreme Court referee.

The terms were made public today.

The dam was completed in 1951 for the 60-mile-long reservoir on the East Branch of the Delaware River.

In 1955, the town set a permanent valuation of $20,416,500, which meant an annual tax bill of $300,000 for the New York City board. The board protested that the assessment should have been $2,080,650.

Downsville and Margaretville are the only villages in Colchester, a Delaware County town. The board's tax payments are a major factor in the town's income and tax rate.

Einemann Says Reid Is Wrong, Schick Democrat

The chairman of the Town of Rosendale Democratic Committee today said he favored Attorney John J. Schick, Kingston's assistant city judge, for nomination by his party to run for Ulster County district attorney.

William Einemann in a written statement to The Freeman also took exception to Joseph Reid's reference to Schick as a Republican, and said the townspeople of Rosendale were there by misled.

Would Vote Schick
The statement further says that Judge Schick was not an announced candidate at the time of the official town Democratic caucus Thursday night. But, Einemann stressed, he hoped to vote for Schick at the county Democratic convention Tuesday night in the Court House on Wall Street.

Einemann said an Ulster County election commissioner informed him that Schick is an enrolled Democrat. Both Einemann and Reid are members of

TO KICK OFF BOND DRIVE—French Premier Charles de Gaulle today called in Jacques Soustelle, political power behind the insurgent junta in Algiers, to advise the cabinet on ways to restore peace to Algeria.

De Gaulle Seeking Formula for Peace

PARIS (AP)—Premier Charles de Gaulle today called in Jacques Soustelle, political power behind the insurgent junta in Algiers, to advise the cabinet on ways to restore peace to Algeria.

If De Gaulle dressed down his old legislative supporter for the junta's brief show of defiance early this week, as was widely predicted, there was no official disclosure. Apparently the junta's pledge of support to De Gaulle Friday night cleared the air.

Confer 90 Minutes
The two conferred for 90 minutes in De Gaulle's private office. Aides to De Gaulle said they had exchanged views on Algeria. De Gaulle asked Soustelle to give Cabinet ministers his ideas on a settlement of the 3½-year-old Arab-Berber rebellion.

Soustelle told reporters the Premier had requested him to see members of the government and "expose to them that which I have been able to learn personally in North Africa."

Asked if he would enter De Gaulle's government, Soustelle replied curtly: "That's another thing." His supporters on the All-Algeria Committee of Public Safety have been demanding a Cabinet post for him. They showed their dissatisfaction Tuesday by approving a motion demanding a political house cleaning in Paris.

Will Meet Again
Soustelle said he will see De Gaulle again. He will stay in Paris a few more days instead of returning immediately to Algiers, as he had planned. De Gaulle summoned him from Algiers Wednesday, then made him wait 48 hours before receiving him.

Soustelle, 46, was De Gaulle's information director in the war and served in his 1945 Cabinet. He evaded police surveillance in Paris after the May 13 Algiers military-colonialist uprising, flew to Algiers and joined the junta.

As Soustelle left De Gaulle's office, Soviet Ambassador Sergei Vinogradov walked in. He said afterward he had given De Gaulle a verbal personal message from Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and a note on a proposed summit conference similar to that delivered yesterday in Washington and London.

Dig Deep De Gaulle
The Premier meanwhile sought a sound financial foundation for his political and colonial reform plans by asking his countrymen to dig hoarded money out of their mattresses.

Encouragingly, the Bureau of Statistics announced that the last month's rise in the cost of living index was the slimmest in more

Red China Frees Last Two American Priests

HONG KONG (AP) — Peiping radio announced the release today of the last two American Catholic priests imprisoned in Communist China.

The Rev. Joseph P. McCormack of the Maryknoll Seminary, Ossining, N.Y., and the Rev. John P. Wagner of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Chicago, Ill., were released at Shanghai, the broadcast said.

They were freed "on the expiration of their prison terms," the broadcast said. The two priests were arrested June 15, 1953, and sentenced to five years in prison on Communist charges of espionage.

There was no immediate indication when—or even if—the two priests might leave China.

Their release leaves four Americans known to be still in Chinese Communist jails on spy charges.

They are businessmen Robert E. McCann of Altadena, Calif., Hugh Francis Redmond of Yonkers, N.Y., John Thomas Downey, a civilian employee of the U.S. Army from New Britain, Conn., and Richard George Fecteau, also an Army employee, from Lynn, Mass.

A third American Catholic priest, Bishop James Edward Walsh of Cumberland, Md., is still in Shanghai. He has been held under various forms of house arrest and detention but never been imprisoned as far as is known.

Peiping radio said Father McCormack, 65, was arrested for espionage consisting of "collecting Chinese political and economic information under the cover of being a priest." The broadcast said

Father Wagner was arrested "for sabotaging China's financial ordinance."

Their release today had been expected, since the Chinese Communists have in the past been punctual about releasing American prisoners at the ends of their terms.

Conference Set July 1 At Geneva

Soviet Plugging For Complete Ha't

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has agreed to begin exploratory scientific talks in Geneva July 1 on ways to police any worldwide ban of nuclear explosions.

The Russian agreement came Friday in answer to proposals made Tuesday by President Eisenhower. Eisenhower's message avoided a flat U.S. commitment to stop testing atomic and hydrogen bombs. The West has insisted that technical talks on inspection must come first.

Challenges West
Russia announced in April that she was suspending nuclear tests and challenged the West to follow her lead. The Russians have consistently rejected the idea of inspection and control, and have claimed the tests could be stopped by a simple declaration from the atomic powers, currently Russia, the United States and Britain, with France believed coming up fast.

The Russian note said the technical talks should be concluded in three or four weeks and plugged the Soviet position by saying the Geneva meeting should lead to a quick suspension of all tests.

The West has made repeated appeals to Russia to discuss nuclear controls. Last month the 15 members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization invited Russia to join in technical talks and said they would go ahead with their own disarmament studies even if she refused.

May Invite Others
Eisenhower proposed that scientific experts from the United States, Britain and France sit in on the talks for "our side" while the Communists could send scientists from Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Russia agreed to this. The Russians said they would be willing to have members of the U.N. secretariat help out "in a technical capacity."

Cement Strike Continues
A report that the strike of the United Lime, Cement and Gypsum Workers Union had been terminated at the Lehigh Cement Plant, Alsen, Greene County, was denied today by the plant. Negotiations for a new contract have been in progress for some time. The last meeting between plant and union representatives was held Tuesday in Albany.

Beach Will Open Officially Sunday

The official opening Sunday at 10:30 a. m. of Kingston Point Beach was announced today by Andrew J. Murphy, 3rd, superintendent of Kingston Recreation Department.

The beach will be open daily until 8:30 p. m. The same admission prices will prevail as in former years, Murphy said.

Senior life guards on duty will be Albert Gruner and Jack Gilligan.

The beach, usually opened for the Memorial Day holiday, remained closed this year because of the unseasonable weather, and the coolness of the water, Murphy said.

Christ's Early Ministry-2

JORDAN RIVER—John the Baptist was, as the gospels relate, the voice of one crying in the wilderness: "prepare ye the way of the Lord, make straight His path." For several months, John had been preaching throughout Judea and proclaiming the coming of one "the latchet of whose shoes I am not worthy to stoop down and loose."

But one day, while John was baptizing in the river Jordan, that one came and asked to be baptized. In a tremendous affirmation of faith, Jesus stood in the water and was baptized by John, an incident that caused the heavens to open and the Spirit to descend like a dove.

That same spirit of Christian zeal and piety still lives in the setting where John baptized Jesus. Because the waters are deep and dangerous, only baptismal boats are used. The Catholics use a small rowboat. The Greek Orthodox Church shares with the Protestants a large boat donated by the Greek Navy.

Building Plans Made by Stone Ridge Parish

Parishoners of St. Peter's Church, Stone Ridge and St. John's Church, High Falls, exceeded the $30,000 goal in a building fund canvass for the proposed Christ Episcopal Church. Plans are underway for the construction of a new church unit consisting of rectory, parish hall and church on four acres of land mid-way between the two churches on Route 213.

The land, the former Muller property, was recently acquired by the parish for approximately $4,000. Plans for the church will be drawn by William Van Benschoten, architect, and are subject to the approval of the Diocese of New York.

Ground breaking ceremonies will take place on the Feast of St. Peter, June 29, at 4 p. m. with the Rt. Rev. Robert Erskine Campbell, OHC, retired missionary Bishop of Liberia, giving the blessing. The Rev. David W. Arnold, priest-in-charge of the Stone Ridge-High Falls churches, the Ven. George F. Bratt, archdeacon of the diocese, and members of the vestry will break ground for the new church.

The building program would consolidate the two churches, eliminating the present duplication of efforts, service and maintenance. St. Peter's Church was founded 112 years ago in Stone Ridge. The parish now extends from Tillson-Rifton area to Kerhonkson and includes High Falls and Rosendale sections.

At a recent Loyalty Dinner at the SRS Home, Cottekill, over 140 members of the congregation were briefed on the building proposals by Sidney Gray Jr. Other speakers for the evening included John Kern and Major H. Edgar Timmerman who outlined the pledge program. Guy McCorkle, general chairman of the building fund and budget expansion canvass, presided.

Mrs. Sidney Gray and Mrs. Harold Timmerman were co-chairmen of the hostess committee and Mrs. Isaac Graham and Mrs. Alwin Nicholas were in charge of arrangements.

GOOD GOSSIP

Gossip, like almost everything else, has its good use as well as its bad. There is a kind of gossip that tears down; and one which builds up. Some of the things that are spread from mouth to ear, and then from ear to mouth, are destructive; others are medicinal and helpful.

An old adage offers this bit of counsel: if you can't say something good about a person, don't say anything. That is good advice. A decade or more ago one of the publications of the State Council of Churches carried this statement: "One should either be silent, or say something better than silence." That sets a very high standard for utterance.

What a different world this would be if everyone were wise enough to maintain silence until he or she was convinced that what was spoken would be a real improvement on silence.

Too often we let the good things die with the hearing while we employ our tongues to spread tales that would be better if they were left unreported. Repeating something good about a person is like a spring sun on a freshly planted garden. It brings lovely or nourishing things into being. Spreading good gossip is a very important service in a world which has a desperate need for every noble lift it can get.

An author with a rare insight into life has suggested that we ought always to strive to be a little kinder than is necessary. And that goes for the words we utter as well as for the deeds we do. The person who makes sure that his kindness in word and deed does not exceed the minimum requirements turns the privilege of life into a farce. He is always busy at his arithmetic, working out his average to make sure he doesn't do more than his share, instead of "forgetting himself in others and giving to God his best."

Nothing jeopardizes the soul more than the eagerness to keep kindness within bounds. Somewhere recently I have read that two things are bad for hearts: running up hill and down people. It is important to note that not always is the truth worthy to be uttered. Because a thing is true does not release it to be shouted from the rooftops. There are many truths that are better left unspoken; many things that can be proved reliable are better locked in the silence of the heart.

Distinguishing between gossip that is worthy to be spread and that which is better left unspoken is one of the most important of our daily projects. For that intricate and significant responsibility some poet has offered this helpful guidance:

If I am tempted to reveal
A tale someone to me has told
About another, let it pass
Before I speak, three gates of gold.
Three narrow gates: First, is it true?
Second, is it needed? Third, my mind
Gives truthful answer, and the next
Is last and narrowest, Is it kind?
And if, to reach my lips at last,
It passes through these gateways
Then I may tell the tale, nor fear
What the result of speech may be.

Historian Offers School's History For Cornerstone

An outline of the history of Saugerties Schools prepared this week by Village Historian Miss Pauline Hommel will be placed in the copper container for the cornerstone of the new junior-senior high school building.

The laying of the cornerstone of the new school will take place Wednesday, June 25, at 2 p. m. The outline submitted by Miss Hommel, and dated June 12, 1958, is as follows:

"There is very little information to be found about the outlying, one-room schools. Most of them date back one hundred fifty years, and some more than that."

"The Palatines came to this section from the Palatinate, on the Rhine, in Germany. They came in 1710. They were Protestants seeking religious freedom. The first winter they founded a church and a school. Where the first school building was located nobody knows. But in the middle of the 18th Century the school building was near the junction of what is now Main and Market Streets. One of the first teachers was Ludwig Roesle, a Palatine, whose descendants live in Saugerties today. The name has been Anglicized to Russell."

"We hear no more about schools until 1812 when there were school commissioners elected who divided the town into twelve districts and the official school year opened in November. This regime continued until 1856 when the State of New York took over and the town no longer controlled the schools. The official year was then changed to begin and end in June."

"Some of the early school commissioners were William Myer, Peter Post, Solomon Hommel, Tobias Wynkoop, William Overbaugh, Martin Snyder, Isaac DuBois and Stephen Fiero. "The teachers of those early days had no particular training. They signified their willingness to teach and appeared before a 'Board' (whose learning was in no way outstanding). If they answered questions put to them correctly they 'passed' and were given permission to teach. They generally 'boarded' round, and their pay was infinitesimal."

"Just one hundred years before the formation of our central school (1855) a school for higher education was organized in Saugerties. It was called the Saugerties Academy, and was housed in the then recently vacated Reformed Church building on Livingston Street. After four years the institution failed and the building was abandoned as a school."

"In June 1866, the Saugerties Institute came into being. A building was erected and in November of that year the school was formally opened. The cost of the building, equipment and furniture was $7,065.63. It was a brick building surmounted by a cupola or belfry and stood where the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Woodthorn stands today, just opposite and facing Cedar Street. It was not a public school. It was controlled by a board of trustees and was operated by a man named William Whyte who served as principal until November, 1869. It had three classrooms and a library."

"In 1893, the three public school districts in the Village of Saugerties (No. 10—Livingston Street, No. 15—Post Street and No. 21—Hill Street) united to form Union Free School District Number 10. The old academy was bought from Mr. Whyte for $1,000. The building was used for a variety of purposes, including a warehouse, a store, and a school. It was finally abandoned in 1900.

(who was once more the principal). The price paid was $3,000. That building then housed the Saugerties High School. The first class was graduated in June, 1897. It consisted of three boys and one girl. The Saugerties High School operated in the old Academy building until 1907. When the present high school building was opened for business in 1906, the old Academy building was razed.

"The building on Hall Street has continued to be used as a school for probably a hundred years. Seventy-eight years ago it was described as a 'good brick building, thoroughly lighted, warmed and ventilated' . . . arranged for three departments."

"For over a half century our old high school on Main Street has molded, trained, and prepared for life the youth of this village and the surrounding settlements. Now the building is outmoded and about to be abandoned as a high school. We enter into another era of education in this year of our Lord, Nineteen Hundred Fifty-Eight."

WELCOME TO A FRIEND

While worrying over the fate of our traditional friend, France, we cannot be without concern for our powerful enemy-turned-friend, the West German republic.

The president of that republic, Theodor Heuss, is now making the first visit to this country ever made by a German head of state. And his presence among us should be a forceful reminder of Germany's importance in the defense and advancement of the Western nations.

Indeed, the tragic weakness of France only serves to emphasize the West's need for a strong Germany as a European bulwark against the Soviet Communist world.

Just 14 years ago, Allied armies were mounting their historic invasion of Normandy in the big drive to roll back Hitler's forces and crush his brutal 12-year regime.

There is inevitable irony in the fact that we should now be relying so heavily upon the Germans to help hold a barrier against the new marauders from the east.

In a hard, practical sense we have had no choice. Western Europe's NATO network without Germany is widely considered inadequate even as a mere delaying mechanism in the event of Russian aggression.

But another side of the matter must be looked at. We were bound in any event to welcome Germany into the family of free nations, provided that it met the conditions of acceptability. To be everlasting unforgiving would be to violate our own code of morals.

The Bonn republic, under the able and dedicated leadership of Konrad Adenauer, has consistently met the test. It has given convincing evidence of a wish to be aligned on the side of freedom.

Remembering Germany's instigation of two world wars, we have a duty always to be alert for signs of a militaristic resurgence. But it is one thing to be alert and another to be, as some still are, constantly suspicious, vindictive and unforgiving.

We have utterly no reason to believe the Germans are not thoroughly committed to liberty. If as it seems they really are, then we and all the West may be greatly thankful, for it is a tremendous gain for the free world.

As a symbol of the new German nation, President Heuss deserves a warm, heartfelt welcome wherever he goes in America. He is our friend.

Designers assure the public they have plenty of ideas for new features in future automobiles. All they need is encouragement from plenty of prospective purchasers.

TRACKING TORNADOES

The tornado illustrates, as well as almost any earthly phenomenon, the blind fury of unleashed natural forces. It is hard, seeing a tornado or observing the destructive path of such a storm, not to yield to mankind's ancient belief that there is something malevolent in nature. Reason tells us that it is not so, yet the feeling lingers in a dark corner of the mind.

This feeling must have emerged to light in more than one mind when tornadoes struck an area in western Wisconsin the night of June 4. Disaster came with horrible speed—literally with the swiftness of the wind. And when the great winds had passed, death and anguish and destruction reigned.

Words are poor comfort at such a time. Words cannot heal the injured, nor assuage the grief of those who lost their loved ones. The nation can only think with sympathy of those who are suffering.

Words can do one thing, however. They can give at least some assurance to others in the tornado region who may fear, perhaps even subconsciously, that their homes may be stricken next. There was time, not long ago, when it was not possible to say where a tornado would do its ravaging work. That time has passed.

It has passed, at any rate, to such an extent that in many cases the U. S. Weather

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
THE NEW AGE

I saw an advertisement in "The Washington Post and Times Herald," which marks The New Age. It not only evokes the question, "What are we coming to," it tells us. This is the advertisement:

"Waitress, blonde. Must be 21 to 35 years old, 5' 4" to 5' 8" tall, 34-24-34, or better. Experience desirable. . . ."

Precisely what is the work that a blonde can do that a brunette or a red-head cannot do? Is it a question of decor? Are waitresses hired because they can carry soup without spilling it down the customer's back or because they blend into the color of the wallpaper?

In this age of science, when man can do everything, any girl with a few extra dollars can be a blonde if she chooses and get a job as a waitress. However, this advertisement does not say what kind of blonde is preferred. There are as many kinds of blondes as there used to be political parties in France. A natural blonde is very rare indeed and most beautiful when found. A strawberry blonde used to be fashionable when Irish girls still had some of the old world about them. And then there is the mousy, greyish blonde that gives an air of humility.

The age range in this advertisement is wide. A girl of 21 nowadays is really a chick; whereas 35 is, for a woman, the approach to middle age. These days, a girl's face can be made to look like a young girl's by electrolysis, character by make-up; and the eyes can be perverted by various devices. Thus, when the swain gazes into the starlit eyes of his lady-love, he cannot tell whether the sparkle is from the soul or from a shot of stuff advertised on TV as the solution of all human problems.

Now, it may appear that one like myself who writes about great subjects, like de Gaulle and Eisenhower and Khrushchev and how to solve the problems of disappearing gold, should not get excited about waitresses and what a girl is required to be to enter the art of carrying a dish of Swiss steak from a kitchen to a table.

But the truth is that it is in small things that one observed the trend of the times and when a female is measured like a horse, it is a kind of evidence that this is an age when externals matter more than the souls of men and women.

Just think what it means to civilization that this slinger of bread puddings and gelatin and such must be 5' 4" to 5' 8" tall, no more, no less, and that she must have bodily measurements of "34-24-34" or better? What puzzles me is the "or better." What is better?

I wonder how many men who have been married to the same wife for years and years know what her measurements are? Even in the Circassian slave market, where men bought women for their harems, they did not measure them, as though for a shroud, although they might have looked into their mouths to see whether their teeth were still there or is that the way a horse is bought?

One thing omitted from these measurements is the size of the hand. It strikes me that if a girl is to carry a load of victrolas on a tray or otherwise, she must have a powerful pair of hands, or does a waitress no longer need strength, only fortitude?

We have moved far from the modesty of an older generation when legs were called limbs and when the sight of a female ankle sent shivers up the spine of a gangling youngster. We have moved very far from that, but in what direction? That is really the question.

A young lady once asked me whether I believed in progress and I was forced to reply, "In what direction?" A wise man, perhaps one of the wisest, said to me recently, "All political parties have disappeared all over the world. That will produce tyrants. Thus the wheel of life turns, but it is on the same old axle." Is that progress?

It used to be said in World War I that some nations shouted in their own tongues, "Advance! Advance!" as they marched backward. It was not hypocritical. They had merely turned around and therefore backward became "Forward march!"

These measurements of a prospective waitress sure start me off.

Diabetes Is Serious Disease
Which Physician Must Treat

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

I become quite alarmed each year by certain similar letters from correspondents. They either ask me for a diet for diabetes or state that the writer (or some relative) knows he has the disease and wonders if he should have medical attention for it.

Diabetes, which is a disease characterized principally by an increase above normal of sugar in the blood and in elimination of sugar in the urine, is not a condition to be taken lightly.

Probably the most frequent symptoms are thirst and excessive urination, but other symptoms may be present. Indeed, someone may have diabetes with all symptoms absent or unnoticed.

It is certainly not safe for a victim of diabetes to go for any length of time without medical supervision. Furthermore, adding and subtracting to the diet without medical control is hazardous.

Advice rendered from a distance would also be extremely dangerous since everyone with diabetes—or any other serious disease for that matter—needs individual and not mail-order treatment.

Untreated diabetes can lead to serious complications. Persons with diabetes are more liable than others to hardening of the arteries and its complications. In the feet and legs, for example, the combination of diabetes and hardening of the arteries may lead to infection and sometimes to death of a tissue.

Persons with diabetes are likewise more susceptible to coronary thrombosis or angina pectoris, both involving the heart, than those who do not have this disease.

Serious eye complications are not uncommon in patients with undiagnosed or unsatisfactorily treated diabetes. Neglect of this disease can lead, in severe cases, to progressive loss of weight and eventually even to death.

Even today there are far too many people who are careless about their diets or insulin and consequently develop serious complications which might have been avoided.

Diabetes should be identified as early as possible and exact treatment with diet, and if necessary, insulin, must be outlined. Those afflicted with this disease cannot be careless about following instructions if they wish to avoid painful or serious complications and possibly even an untimely death.

It should be emphasized again that individual management is essential. No two persons with diabetes are exactly alike in their requirements.

er Bureau can now alert the public well before the storm hits. Though the detection and tracking system is not yet perfected, the Weather Bureau network does promise more security against a hazard that used to be wholly unpredictable.

Someday, man may exercise major control over the weather and may be able to abort or divert tornadoic winds. In the meantime, we are at least learning to keep a warier eye on them.

They Cried When He Sat Down to Play

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Mrs. Esther C. Goddard, widow of the late Dr. Robert H. Goddard, father of American rocketry, was guest of honor at the first National Missile Industry conference, held in Washington.

For if Dr. Goddard is the father, then Mrs. Goddard must surely be the mother of this burgeoning, five-billion-dollar infant industry.

Mrs. Goddard isn't a scientist. She says she learned more about rocketry after her husband's death than she knew before.

She was a secretary in the office of the president of Clark University, Worcester, Mass., when young Prof. Goddard came back from California in 1918. He had been experimenting with a forerunner of the bazooka.

The Army wanted it, and the Air Corps wanted it to mount on the wings of airplanes. Prof. Goddard asked the secretary if she would type up his notes and reports. That's how it began.

They were married in 1924 and Mrs. Goddard became an extra pair of hands to help her husband with his research. It was financed in the beginning, by his own savings and later by grants of $500 at a time from Smithsonian Institution.

Incidentally, four of Dr. Goddard's rockets fired in 1926, 1935, 1938 and 1941, are now on exhibit in the Smithsonian museum here.

ONE OF MRS. GODDARD'S early jobs was to put out the grass fires of a rocket launchings, while her husband and his helpers raced after the missile in a truck, to pick up and salvage the pieces, and put out other fires.

Mrs. Goddard tells about the firing of the 1926 model—the first successful firing of a liquid fuel rocket.

They started out from the Clark University laboratory in their Ford roadster, with the rocket mounted on an improvised trailer. It was March 16, and she thinks it must have been a Tuesday—the day the professor had no classes.

They drove out to Aunt Effie Ward's farm, near Auburn, Mass. She wasn't Dr. Goddard's aunt. Everybody just called her that. They headed for a depression from which the rocket was launched over toward a muddy slope.

The launching "tower" was made out of pipe. There was a windbreak about eight feet high, made out of corrugated iron sheets on three sides of the launching "pad" which was a pile of rocks.

THE COMBUSTION CHAMBER and the nozzle were at the top of this rocket. They pulled the rocket up, instead of pushing it. The tube was about 10 feet long and a couple of inches in diameter, made of aluminum.

The fuel tanks, one of liquid oxygen and one of gasoline, were on each side.

When the first rocket was set up, Dr. Goddard and his helpers retired a safe distance. Henry Sachs, an instrument maker with Dr. Goddard for many years, lit a blow torch attached to a long pole. This he used to ignite the rocket motor. Then he ran.

The rocket rose slowly, a little to the left. It landed in a cabbage patch. Aunt Effie didn't care.

This flight was 184 feet. It reached an altitude of 41 feet. Its speed was about 60 miles an hour. No one ever calculated its thrust, but it wasn't much.

Henry Sachs, who made the model in about a month and lit it, is now retired and lives in Bladensburg, Md., a Washington suburb.

Dr. Goddard salvaged the fuel tanks and probably used them on a model he fired a couple of months later.

"We were so poor," Mrs. Goddard recalls.

They used to get their liquid oxygen from welding companies. It cost $1 a liter. Sometimes when the supply company filled its cylinders, Dr. Goddard would get surplus "lox" for nothing.

CONTRAST THIS penny-pinching with the billions of dollars now spent on missiles. And then start wondering why Dr. Goddard's work wasn't recognized and supported, earlier.

If it had been, maybe the United States would have had the V-2 before the Germans and Sputniks before the Russians.

"I don't know who was to blame," Mrs. Goddard philosophizes now. "My husband was the academic type. He was soft-spoken and introspective. He was a lone inventor."

He couldn't put his finger on where the trouble was. I don't know what he thought about all the run-around."

South just wins the first club in dummy and leads a trump. West is in with the ace and leads a second club. South follows in dummy and now if East ruffs, South simply plays a low club from his own hand and East will have ruffed South's losing club trick.

Watson's book does not cover bidding and many pairs would arrive at three no-trump with the North-South cards. In that case, four odd would be a lay-down and there would be no story.

Feels He's Lucky Veteran Without Feet, Most of Hands Graduates

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — He lost his feet and most of his hands in the Korean War, but Ed Reeves said today, "I'm just plain lucky."

Reeves, 26, is one of 17 handicapped students among 2,958 to be awarded degrees today in University of Illinois commencement exercises.

At 19, Reeves was an infantryman fighting the Chinese Communists at the Chosin Reservoir in December 1950. He was captured and left for dead. For two days he lay in 27-below zero cold until U.S. Marines found him.

His frozen feet and most of his hands were removed by surgery. What sort of luck was that?

"Well," said Reeves, of Wilmington, Ill., his eyes roving his compact mobile home eight years later. "Look what I've got."

He smiled at his wife, Beverly Jean, whom he married in September 1951, and his daughters, Michelle Lee, 4, and Melody Sue, who will be 2 in August.

A $9,000 fund raised by well-wishers while he lay in Percy Jones Hospital at Battle Creek, Mich., helped Reeves and his wife get a start.

He receives an unspecified amount of disability pension, and the GI Bill has paid for his schooling and part of his living expenses.

What about his handicap? "It isn't so much. I'm better off than lots of people that way," Reeves said.

"Everybody has his troubles. With mine, I've had a good share of luck."

600 Are Returned

"Moreover, the Division is holding at its Albany headquarters more than 600 checks which have been returned as undeliverable, presumably because the claimant has moved since he last had an active benefit claim."

Under the 1958 legislation, current and retroactive rate adjustments were made for all claimants whose earnings had averaged $73 per week or more, and who started benefit years on or after July 1, 1957.

Addition of nine new top benefit rates above the old $36 maximum was designed, Harriman explained, to restore the principle that the majority of benefit claimants should have weekly benefit rates equal to half their usual weekly wage.

Under the $36 ceiling—because of wage rises in recent years—only about 55 per cent of all benefit claimants were receiving half their wages.

The new schedule fixing a top payment of $45 for claimants whose wages averaged $90 a week or more insures a half-wage benefit for about 80 per cent of all current claimants.

600 Are Returned

"Moreover, the Division is holding at its Albany headquarters more than 600 checks which have been returned as undeliverable, presumably because the claimant has moved since he last had an active benefit claim."

Under the 1958 legislation, current and retroactive rate adjustments were made for all claimants whose earnings had averaged $73 per week or more, and who started benefit years on or after July 1, 1957.

Addition of nine new top benefit rates above the old $36 maximum was designed, Harriman explained, to restore the principle that the majority of benefit claimants should have weekly benefit rates equal to half their usual weekly wage.

Under the $36 ceiling—because of wage rises in recent years—only about 55 per cent of all benefit claimants were receiving half their wages.

The new schedule fixing a top payment of $45 for claimants whose wages averaged $90 a week or more insures a half-wage benefit for about 80 per cent of all current claimants.

Electric Shock Kills

Man as Car Shears Pole
SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP) — Jon Dockendorf, 22, of Greenwich, was killed by electric shock Friday night when an automobile sheared off a power pole. Two other persons were injured.

The accident interrupted power to parts of the city. Saratoga Springs police said Dockendorf was thrown from the car and landed on a live wire torn down when the pole fell.

Injured were Walter Cherry, 18, of Saratoga Springs, and Mrs. Edward Patten, 40, of Saratoga Lake.

Cherry was reported in critical condition at Ellis Hospital in Schenectady. Mrs. Patten's condition was reported fair.

3 Parties Outlawed
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanon's pro-Western government has outlawed three opposition political parties which began a rebellion five weeks ago.

The government of Premier Sami Solh accused the parties Friday of undermining the security of this east Mediterranean republic.

The parties are the National and the National Council parties, plus the largest, the Socialist Progressive Front of Druse tribal chieftain Kamal Jumblatt.

Mayor Asks Full Cooperation Here For 'Do-It-Now'

Mayor Edwin F. Radel today urged fullest cooperation of the entire community with the campaign to stimulate buying and projects that create jobs.

He issued a proclamation in support of state-wide and local "Do-It-Now" programs aimed at stimulating every phase of economy that promotes buying, building, and more jobs.

Meanwhile, Kenneth C. Pratt, chairman of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce committee on "Do-It-Now" expressed gratification of general support being given the program to date.

The mayor's proclamation stressed that positive action by governmental units, by industry, by retailers and by home owners can be of great help but must be done quickly to be effective. He pointed out that the whole community will feel the prospective effects of home improvement, modernization of retail establishments and the expediting of plant maintenance and expansion programs.

Chairman Pratt of the CC committee noted that the week of June 16 has been set aside for special emphasis on "Do-It-Now" by several groups.

Mayor Radel's proclamation said full community support should be given the program for stimulating better times, the slogan of which is "Be smart, do it now—more jobs in 1958."

Downtown Man Held for Cruelty To Animal Count

Walter Ellsworth, 24, of 75 Hasbrouck Avenue, was arrested Friday evening on a charge of cruelty to animals.

He was arraigned in city court today and a hearing was set for June 17.

A subsequent report was received by police charging that the dog owned by Ellsworth was vicious.

Ellsworth was arrested at 8:35 p. m. on complaint of Keyser on a charge of cruelty to animals. Keyser charged that Ellsworth had hit the dog with an iron pipe.

Officers Richard Scherer and Frank Stip were sent to the Hasbrouck Avenue address this morning to check on the condition of the dog. Officer Scherer was bitten on the finger by the dog. The officer was treated at Kingston Hospital.

Awarded $750 Verdict
Aaron M. Kates, Granite boarding house proprietor, was awarded a verdict of $750 in County Court late Friday afternoon in an action for damages brought against Shanahan Construction Company of Ellenville.

Kates sued for damages to his property which he alleged was caused from the use of heavy equipment passing over his property during construction of a highway bridge over Stonykill creek. The bridge was destroyed by the 1955 August flood.

Plaintiff was represented by Philip Korn and Shanahan by Donald H. McCann.

Graham Will End 7-Week 'Frisco Crusade Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Billy Graham preaches the last evening sermon tonight in his seven-week crusade at the Cow Palace. He winds up the series Sunday with an afternoon meeting, then rests until next Sunday when he'll hold a rally at Seals Stadium where he estimates 30,000 people will attend.

Graham preached Friday night to a capacity crowd of 16,500 on the excuses people give for not "making a decision for Christ." There are no valid ones in the sight of God, he said.

No Excuses
God's forgiveness abounds even more than the sins of man, he declared, so there is no excuse for saying one has sinned too much.

"All Christ asks you to give up are your sins," he said of people who feel they have too much to give up.

To say "not now, but some other time is not to live each day of your life as though it's the last, as you should," Graham said.

"Decisions for Christ" Friday night numbered 871.

Skies Clear Over Rain-Hit Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Skies cleared over waterlogged sections of the Midwest today while thunderstorms rumbled across the South and dumped rain from Texas into New England.

A cooler trend north of the Ohio River came in the wake of fresh downpours on flooded areas of Indiana after a night of thunderstorm and tornado activity in Texas and Missouri.

Declares Emergency
The Wabash River rose for the second time this week in Indiana and Mayor J. Robert Mitten of Wabash declared a state of emergency and asked the National Guard to help evacuate families.

Winds clocked at 70 m.p.h. whipped a narrow path several miles long across Macon county in central Illinois Friday night, smashing numerous farm buildings, uprooting trees and downing utility lines.

A violent wind squall, at first believed to be a tornado, uprooted buildings, uprooted trees and hospitalized one person at Borden-town, N.J.

Twister Hits Missouri
Trees were uprooted, utility lines snarled and houses damaged by a twister that struck Concordia, Mo., some 60 miles east of Kansas City. A small twister also churned out of a thunderstorm and did some damage to a farm some 15 miles east of Tulsa, Tex., Friday.

Skies were mostly fair in the Plains states and west of the Rockies, although there was considerable cloudiness in the northern and central Rockies and in the area immediately east of the Continental Divide.

Scattered showers were expected to diminish in New England during the day, fair and cool weather was in prospect from the Upper Mississippi Valley eastward through the Great Lakes, and warmer weather was on tap west of the Rockies and in the Western Plains.

Many Sites Are at Hand For Laundry

Laundry centers in today's homes are likely to be found almost anywhere, not necessarily in the basement, as in older homes.

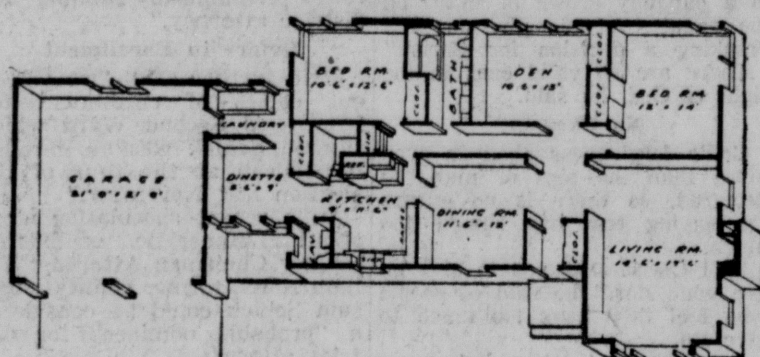

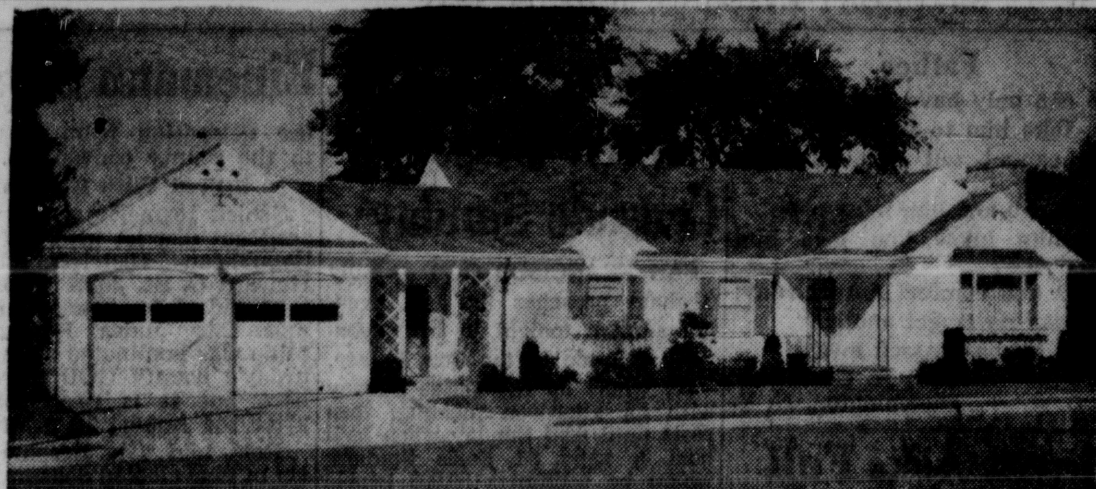

Nowadays, homes may have the laundry equipment in the kitchen, or in an adjacent utility room. Other places include porches, pantries, hall closets, and even bathrooms.

The greater flexibility in locating the laundry center is related to the nature of modern washing machines and dryers and the way they are used.

With their automatic appliances, homemakers now tend to launder frequently, rather than one day a week, and they like to have the equipment near the sources of soiled clothes.

Trimly designed laundry appliances in their newer, more prominent locations call for surroundings that measure up to high standards of eye-appeal and easy upkeep. The way basements have become part of the house, laundries here too require an attractive appearance.

One wall covering well suited to modern laundry centers is pre-decorated hardboard paneling.

'Marsha' Fits Varied Family Needs

Rooms Seven
Bedrooms Two
Closets Six
Dimensions 80' x 35'
Cubage:
House 32,300 ft.
Garage 5,800 ft.

Thoroughly modern and very attractive, the "Marsha", today's presentation from Home of the Week Plan Service, contains seven good-sized rooms so planned and arranged that it can fit the varied needs of different size families.

In this one-story home there are two regular bedrooms—both of these rooms are lighted and ventilated and feature good closet storage space. The room indicated as the den can be used with equal ease as a bedroom or as a combination den and guest room.

Since the kitchen has a separate and certainly adequate dining area, the dining room may also be converted to a den or family room if the owner so desires. Thus, if your needs demand a home with lots of bedroom area, the "Marsha" can serve your needs, or if you plan in future years, a large family, rooms can easily be converted to sleeping area.

Entry Way With Large Closet
The entry way is separate and apart from the living room, offers seclusion and the advantage of a large double size closet for outdoor clothing. From the entranceway you can turn left or right into the living room or directly into the dining room. Notice that the hallway that secures the bedrooms also will allow you to shut off the dining room to prevent unnecessary traffic from wandering through.

The living room offers a large picture window facing the front of the house and a fireplace, yet leaves adequate wall space for proper decorating. The kitchen faces the front of the house so that mother may keep her eye on children playing in the front yard.

In the kitchen, the cooking and eating areas are completely separated to avoid congestion and to allow for orderly procedure at meal time. The second bathroom located off the kitchen is an added luxury certain to be appreciated by the family that chooses the "Marsha" as their home. Notice, too, the laundry room that is in back of the house leading directly to the backyard, yet close enough to

Tomato Spraying Can Pay Its Way

GENEVA, N. Y.—Factors essential in a tomato spraying program to justify the cost of materials and labor were stressed today by Doctor W. T. Schroeder, Cornell plant disease specialist at the Experiment Station of Cornell University.

"Only when the job is done right and when the grower understands fully what he is trying to accomplish will tomato spraying pay its way," he said.

"Fungicides are no cure-all, at best they seldom give absolute disease control," he said. "First of all, know what diseases your spray program is aimed to control. Early and late blight and anthracnose, constant threats to tomatoes in this state, can be controlled by spraying. On the other hand, mosaic diseases, blossom-end rot, bacterial canker, verticillium wilt, and some other maladies of tomatoes cannot be controlled by fungicides."

It is also important to select the right fungicides and to make certain that all parts of the plant are covered and remain covered with the spray, even if this means repeated applications, said the station scientist.

Too often, speed of operation and low cost are achieved at the expense of good coverage and retention of spray materials so what appears to be quick and cheap is actually expensive in net returns because of lack of suitable disease control, he said.

Put Ashes to Work

Ashes of wood, coal both hard and soft, and even fine cinders are of value to loosen heavy clay, but soft coal ashes should be weathered for a season to get rid of toxic substances.

Patch Enamel Or Porcelain

With the exception of sore thumbs, few things in this world can stand out as badly as a chip in the enamel or porcelain finish on a nice white kitchen or bathroom appliance. If the chip occurs where it is subject to standing water, there isn't too much that can be done about it but if the area isn't going to be under water, a very inconspicuous patch can be applied. What you use for this job is a special patching compound which you can get at most hardware stores. These compounds are sold under various trade names and are known as liquid porcelain, patching enamel, bathtub enamel, etc.

First thing you do is to remove any rust from the exposed metal and then wipe the area clean with benzine. It's very important that you do a good job of cleaning because if the surface to which the patching material is applied is dirty or covered with grease, the patch isn't going to hold very well. When the surface is clean, apply a thin coat of the patching compound. Be sure to follow the manufacturer's direction.

When the coat is hard and dry, polish it down smooth with fine sandpaper. Most of these patching materials shrink somewhat as they dry therefore it's best to use a little more than is necessary to do the job and then remove the excess after the patch is dry with sandpaper. With some types of patching compounds, a coat of waterproof glaze can be applied after the patch is dry.

Two Bathrooms In Modern Homes

There is a new pattern for family living in America—more children, better health and hygiene, more personal grooming, greater utility and convenience.

All of these add up to the need for two or more bathrooms, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Home design can be made more desirable and livable with two bathrooms. Family routine moves so much more smoothly when there is no rush-hour traffic jam in or in front of the single bathroom.

Check Up on Cellar When Buying Home

In investigating homes to buy look for tell-tale signs of inferior workmanship in the cellar. Cracked or sagging walls and floors indicate seepage, another sign of faulty construction.

Examine all wooden members to detect traces of termites or dry rot. Thorough cellar investigation before making home purchases will eliminate future headaches.

MATERNAL HOLD. Poncho the 2nd, a baby chimp, is small enough to squeeze through bars of a St. Louis zoo but his mother's protective arm keeps him from going astray.

Rehanging Pictures Produces New Look

Give your rooms a new look at housecleaning time by rehanging the pictures. Pictures should be hung low enough in the living room to be enjoyed. In a child's room they should be low enough for him to look at easily. Group pictures of similar size or frames in one area. Spacing should be about one-third the width or length of the picture.

Taconic Parkway Spur Open in Fall Has Scenic Route

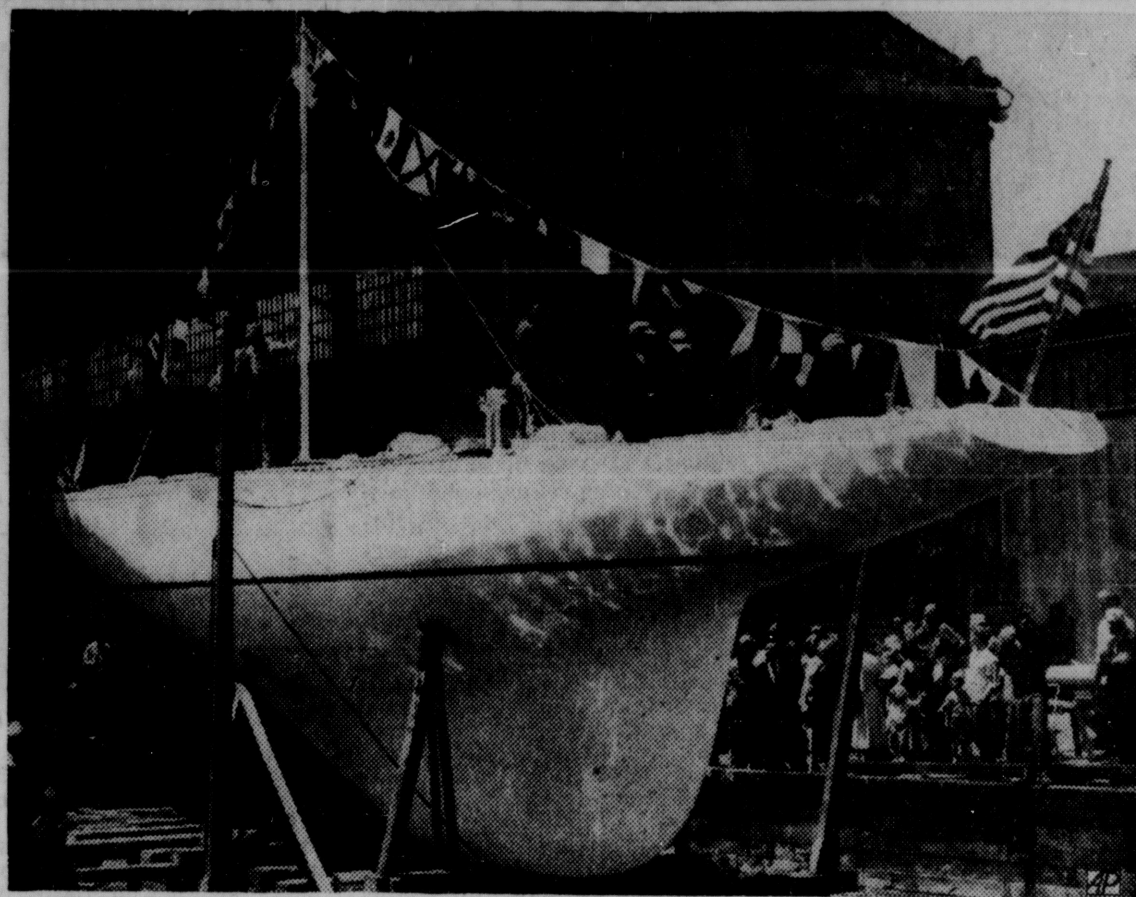

Taconic Parkway, with its new stretch expected to be open to Route 23 by fall, provides one of the most scenic routes along the eastern area of New York between the Hudson River and the Massachusetts-Connecticut lines.

Motorists who have a weekend or longer for sightseeing will be well repaid by a trip along the east bank of the Hudson River. An abundance of historic shrines and magnificent scenery makes it a fascinating area and, as an added inducement, it is well supplied with good highways, restaurants, hotels and motels.

Easily Accessible

The region is easily accessible by the Taconic Parkway, one of the world's most attractive highways. The northern entrance to the parkway is now at Route 82, southeast of Hudson. It is planned to extend the parkway eventually to the junction of Route 20 at a point southeast of Albany.

The Hyde Park-Poughkeepsie section, centrally located and well supplied with overnight accommodations, is a good base from which to explore the area. Twenty minutes ride to the north along Route 9 is Hyde Park where the National Park Service maintains the Franklin D. Roosevelt Home and Library and the Vanderbilt Mansion. Ten minutes more brings the traveler to the Mills Mansion at Staatsburg. A guided tour of this magnificent example of departed grandeur takes about an hour and is time well spent. The mansion is maintained by the Taconic State Park Commission which is responsible for the Taconic Parkway and 10 parks on this side of the river.

Other Interest Points

In the northern part of the valley are the American Museum of Fire Fighting at Hudson, the Shaker Museum near Old Chatham, and the House of History at Kinderhook.

In Poughkeepsie is the Clinton House, one of the state-owned historic sites. At Beacon an unusual opportunity for a bird's eye view of the valley is offered by the incline railway which climbs to the summit of Mount Beacon, named for the signal fires which burned to warn of the approach of British forces in the Revolution.

Youngsters in the family will enjoy a ride across the river on the Beacon-Newburgh ferry, the last ferry operating on the river above New York City. The other ferries have been replaced by five highway bridges, the Tappan Zee, (Nyack-Tarrytown), Bear Mountain (Peekskill), Mid-Hudson (Poughkeepsie), Kingston-Rhinecliff (Kingston), Rip Van Winkle (Catskill).

East of Beacon, on Route 22 north of Brewster, is another place the children will enjoy, Birch Hill Game Park. Graymoor, home of the Franciscan Friars of the Atonement, is five miles north of Peekskill on Route 9. Conducted tours are offered by the Friars. Between White Plains and Tarrytown is the Hammond House, a colonial farmhouse used as headquarters by General George Washington.

West Point Gets $30,000 Grant For War Museum

WEST POINT—Lieutenant General Garrison H. Davidson, superintendent of the U. S. Military Academy, and Dr. Manning M. Pattillo, associate director of the Lilly Endowment, Inc., Indianapolis, Ind., have announced the award of a grant of $30,000 by the endowment to the Military Academy. The grant is to be used for the creation of a West Point Museum exhibit showing the development of military art and institutions from ancient Rome to the present.

The exhibition, now under construction, will occupy a full gallery in the museum's areas in Thayer Hall, the new West Point academic building now being completed. Visitors will see seven dioramas tracing the changes in tactics over two centuries, with figures varying from one inch to full size. There will be displays depicting Great Captains of History, the Principles of War, and a World War I trench through which visitors can walk and see how soldiers lived in the mud of Flanders.

Seed Coat Damage Can Injure Corn

Damage to the seed coat or pericarp of corn can result in poor stands in the field if soil temperatures fall below 50 degrees Fahrenheit, according to Cornell seed analyst Willard F. Crozier at the Experiment Station at Geneva.

Doctor Crozier reported on observations on the effect of pericarp injury to seed corn in the current issue of the station's quarterly, "Farm Research." The studies are part of a cooperative research project with plant disease specialists at the College of Agriculture at Ithaca who are concerned particularly with effect of various seed treatments on the stand of corn in the field.

"In warm, reasonably moist soils, almost any variety of corn even with numerous pericarp injuries and without the protection of fungicide seed treatment will produce good uniform stands in the field," Doctor Crozier said. "But if the soil temperature is below 50 degrees Fahrenheit, as often happens during the corn planting season in New York State, soil fungi develops faster than the corn embryo. These fungi may then enter through openings in the seed coat and consume the food stored there for the embryo, resulting in its death," he said.

Warrior Display

One display in the gallery will be devoted to the six great warrior nations of the world. Each nation will be represented by a full scale figure of a soldier in complete equipment. Among the types selected are a Roman legionary eagle bearer, a Japanese Samurai, a French Grenadier of the period of Napoleon I, and a Prussian staff officer of the War of 1870. The room will also contain an exhibition of American, German, and Japanese military paintings from the two World Wars.

The Military Science Gallery is planned to present the story of the soldier and his institutions in relation to world history. It will be one of the few, if not the only military exhibition of its kind. Frederick P. Todd, director of the West Point Museum, has announced plans to open the new gallery in the spring of 1959.

Melish Backers Block Foes' Bid to Enter

NEW YORK (AP)—Supporters of the Rev. William Howard Melish, ousted supply priest of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church in Brooklyn, have succeeded again in blocking his opponents from taking over the church.

The Rev. Dr. Howard M. Cowan returned to the church Friday to try to enter. But Alex Munsell, a Melish supporter, refused him admittance into a locked office. The two factions in the strife-torn church clashed Thursday on the church premises when Dr. Cowan attempted to enter.

Bishop James P. DeWolfe closed the church to Sunday services last July. The parishioners have been split for years over the Rev. Mr. Melish. His foes have objected to

Veterans' Rights, Benefits Listed

Howard C. Shurter, county director of the Veterans' Service Agency, and the NYS Division of Veterans' Affairs, submits another in a series of articles on rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen and other dependents.

Armed Forces—Veterans who were separated from military or naval service with less than an honorable discharge who can show exemplary civilian behavior for two years or more since their discharge may be able to re-enlist under certain circumstances and qualify for an honorable discharge. Several factors will be taken into consideration with regard to such re-entry into the U. S. armed forces. The nature, seriousness and circumstances surrounding the veterans' conduct which caused him to receive the less than honorable discharge will be considered. Additionally, the veteran's civilian background, education, employment record and general community reputation both before and after the period of service for which the discharge was granted, under less than honorable conditions will be evaluated. Permission to re-enlist is subject to the discretion of the service department secretaries concerned, depending upon needs for manpower and skills. Interested veterans may contact a recruiting station of the branch of service in which they served for assistance and advice.

Bonus—The Connecticut state Korean bonus application deadline date was recently extended to September 30, 1958, from the former ending date of July 1, 1957.

Insurance—Normally veterans with five-year GI term policies can only reinstate them if they lapse by making application for such reinstatement within a five year term period and complying with the other conditions for reinstatement such as payment of premiums, good health, etc. For example, a veteran with term insurance which was renewed on January 1, 1956 whose insurance lapsed in April 1956 for non-payment of premiums may make application for reinstatement of this insurance with the five year period during which this insurance was issued or up to December 31, 1960.

Legislation—The U. S. House of Representatives Veterans' Affairs Committee has reported favorably on a proposed insurance measure, H. R. 11382. This measure, if enacted into law, would authorize the conversion of post-Korean NSLI on a five year level premium term basis to permanent plans including ordinary life, 30 pay life, 20 pay life, endowment at age 60, endowment at age 65 and 20 year endowment. The bill also proposes new insurance premium rates on an up-to-date life expectancy basis. This would benefit eligible veterans in the form of lower insurance premiums. The proposed legislation would permit veterans now holding non-convertible term policies to convert those policies either to convertible term policies based on new rates or to any one of the six proposed permanent plans. Approximately 700,000 veterans of the Korean conflict would be benefited by this proposed legislation.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs office at the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency located at 32 Main Street, Kingston, N. Y.

Stewart AFB Jet Pilots Briefed On New Air Rules

Pilots at Stewart Air Force Base were re-briefed this week on the new rules of air traffic control and flying safety, by Brig. Gen. Von R. Shores, Eastern Air Defense Force deputy for operations, as part of the Air Defense Command-wide re-orientation program, affecting all pilots.

The orientation included an Air Force ruling which forbids jet aircraft to put in to civilian airports on training or itinerant flights unless they are assigned to units occupying the field under joint military-civilian agreements. Exceptions to this restriction, however, are made for Air Defense Command fighter interceptors returning or recovering from alert defense "scrambles" and for other jets seeking to land under emergency conditions.

New System

Under the new system of rules, all non-tactical jets will fly on instruments (IFR), unless they are operating above 20,000 feet, or given specific permission by the Civil Aeronautics Administration to fly under visual flight rules (VFR). This voluntary restriction by the U. S. Air Force of certain jet operations along federal airways is part of the concerted action being taken to remedy the current air traffic situation.

"I cannot emphasize enough," General Shores stated, "the importance of the utmost 'professionalism' in military flying. That professionalism, includes primary consideration in all matters pertaining to flying safety."

The general urged all pilots to meticulously maintain their planned tracks and altitudes while sharing the federal airways with civilian aircraft.

It is becoming apparent that a public image has been created to the extent that there are two air traffic systems, one for the civilian airlines and another for the military, with the latter interfering with civilian air traffic flow. The image is not in its proper perspective.

Both Share Air Lanes

Both military and civilian air operations share and fly under the identical airway traffic system and by the same rules of the air. In some instances, the Air Force is even more stringent than the civil. For example, USAF requires five miles flight visibility for visual flight control, compared to the three miles required by the civil.

Control by the "see and be seen" system is no longer entirely effective, and the U. S. Air Force has long supported the elimination of this system as a method of separating air traffic. At the same time, however, it is recognized that the present system cannot provide the desired control without unacceptable penalties to air defense operations. This is illustrated by the fact that the present system can accommodate an estimated 17,000 movements at any one time, whereas an estimated one day's IFR and VFR traffic totals some 200,000 military and civilian movements.

The problem of effective traffic control is not new to the Air Force. Since 1954, the Air Force has had senior, experienced air space, and air traffic control experts working with each regional CAA administrator to assist in the traffic control problem. Likewise, civilian air traffic control experts were hired to work in each major command headquarters to co-ordinate and advise on air traffic control matters.

Jets Furnished

Because the U. S. Air Force has pioneered in jet operations, they have provided jet orientation and training for other government and civilian agencies. The CAA has been furnished jet aircraft for operational testing and standardization of procedures and facilities.

From his headquarters in Colorado Springs on Tuesday, Lt. Gen. Joseph H. Atkinson, commander of ADC, said, "The Air Defense Command is doing everything possible to prevent air incidents, and all ADC personnel will continue to do so."

The Stewart pilots were told that the success of the Air Force's policy to provide the utmost in cooperation to civilian agencies depends upon the in-

Truck Touches Wires, Shock Kills Two Men

SANGERFIELD, N. Y. (AP)—An automobile repairman raised the body of a dump truck Friday night, it touched high-tension wires and the resulting shock killed him and the motorist he was helping.

The victims were Raymond Bodner, 34, of Ithaca, a salesman, and Harold Cole, 45, Sangerfield garageman.

The accident occurred on Route 20 near Sangerfield, about 20 miles south of Utica. Cole had been called to fix a flat tire on Bodner's car.

A coroner said Cole raised the truck body while Bodner apparently was touching the truck. It touched wires parallel to the highway.

The coroner said Cole might have been raising the dump to get a tire out.

Troop 9 Holds Annual Charter Night Rites

Tenderfoot investiture and advancement ceremonies highlighted Troop 9's annual charter night at the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Wurts and Rogers Streets, Tuesday evening.

District Commissioner Harold Harrison presented the charter to the Rev. David C. Gaise, pastor of the sponsoring church, and complimented the troop on its efficiency in winning third place in the district camporee at Camp Tri-Mount, East Jewett, May 23.

Burton Berge, chairman of the troop committee, welcomed the large gathering of parents and friends to the Court of Honor and awarded registration cards to the Scouts and committeemen. The Rev. Mr. Gaise added his compliments to the Scouts, parents, and leaders for their cooperation in providing an effective program of Scouting in the community.

Tenderfoot Scouts Thomas Dixon, Raymond Krom, Kenneth White, and Richard Woehke were formally inducted into the troop at a candlelight ceremony led by Scoutmaster William Daum. Miniature pins were presented to the mothers of the new Scouts.

Robert Elliott, assistant Scoutmaster, conducted the Second Class investiture ceremony in which the following Scouts were advanced: Michael Boomhower, Wayne Bock, William Daum, Robert Elliott, Ronald Riddle and Robert Villhelm. Miniature second class pins were also presented to their mothers. Two merit badges were awarded to Wayne Bock in firemanship and stamp collecting.

Junior Leaders Rudy Hopkins, Frank Riddle, Arthur Lane, Jack McGarry and Dennis Markle were recognized for successfully completing the junior leaders training course recently held at Camp Tri-Mount.

Committeeman Ted Blanschan explained the troop's participation in the National Safety Good Turn and announced that the first part of the award for traffic safety had been granted to the troop for their efforts during the past three months. He cited as features of the campaign: troop meeting safety programs, films, bicycle rodeo and inspection, school demonstrations, and bicycle safety display in the Memorial Day parade.

Troop 9 will present a program on bicycle safety at School 2 Monday, and at the St. Remy and Union Center schools during the week. A program of outdoor safety with emphasis on swimming and water safety will be carried out during the summer months. "Safety Good Turn" neckerchief slides were awarded to Scouts by the troop committee in recognition of their participation in the program.

Scoutmaster Daum discussed the camporee experience and plans for the summer when the troop will camp as a unit at Camp Tri-Mount.

Patrol skits and stunts concluded the program. Refreshments were served by the Mothers Club.

Licenses Available

BILLINGS, Mont.—There are a lot of people who might have trouble proving they are married. Clerk of Court Andrew Palo has between 10,000 and 20,000 original marriage certificates that have never been turned over to the owners. Some are as old as 1887, before Montana became a state. They run into the 1930s. Palo explained that years ago the Clerk of the District Court kept the original marriage certificates on file. Then, in the 1920s, a Montana attorney general ruled that the original licenses be delivered to the owners.

ON NOSE BLOWING

Dear Mrs. Post: Quite often of late I have noticed an increasing number of people blow their noses in a public dining room. Not too infrequently have I had someone at my own table do this. I find this habit quite nauseating and since these are people of seeming refinement I have often wondered if my resentment is in error, or is it permissible to do this. Eating alone, I would say it would be quite all right, but never when another person is seated at table. I know that in our house when either my husband, daughter or myself have to blow our noses we leave the table. I would appreciate your comments on this not very pleasant subject.

Answer: One should, of course, avoid blowing one's nose at table if possible. But if this is unavoidable it should be done as briefly and silently as possible, and one does not draw further attention to it by apologizing. It is not necessary to leave the table.

Tea for Bride-to-Be

Question: My daughter is giving a tea for a friend who is soon to be a bride. Should the two mothers be invited, and if so, should they be given any special recognition, such as being asked to sit at the tea table and pour? Or perhaps, if not this, would you suggest that they be asked to receive with my daughter and the guest of honor?

Answer: They are invited but not given any more recognition than is given any of the other guests.

Obligation After a Farewell Dinner

Dear Mrs. Post: When a woman who is retiring is given a dinner by a group of women with whom she has been working, is she obliged to entertain them at a later date? There seems to be a difference of opinion about this.

Answer: If the office she is leaving is a small one and only a handful of women gave the dinner, she should, if she can, invite them to a meal, or at least for tea, later on. She would not, however, be expected to even try to entertain a large number of women.

When should a gentleman offer his arm to the lady with him? This and many other questions and answers about manners in public are included in Mrs. Post's leaflet "E-15, 'Manners in Public.'" Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. WHEN I SALUTE THE FLAG

When I salute the flag of red and white and blue
It gives my heart a lift and always thrills me through
It's like a folding arm that brings contentment and delight
Where else in all this world so many blessings I would find?

When I salute the flag of red and white and blue
I hear the bells of freedom ring and pledge my faith anew
And with a thankful heart and folded hand
I ask God's blessing for our flag and land.

O Glorious Flag, whose Stars and Stripes for ever
Fare all my fondest hopes and dreams some true
I swear allegiance, will forsake you never
My grateful heart will always be loyal and true blue.

When I salute the Flag of red and white and blue
My humble heart will do its part and keep its promise true
To fight for right with all its might, for the land I call my own
For I find it good, and in gratitude my loyalty is known.

When I salute the flag of red and white and blue
Unfurled in all its precious glory, and loved so dearly too,
I see the spacious land that God has blessed
With freedoms treasured gift, so graciously expressed

'Shook-Up' Mom Is No Help To Teen-Ager in Same Shape

"I'm worried sick about Julie," said her mother. "She doesn't have a date for the Spring Formal next Saturday night. If there were just something I could do to help her."

It's a cinch that a mother taking a teen-ager's ups and downs as seriously as the teen-ager isn't any help. The girl already THINKS she is a miserable failure because she hasn't a date for an important dance. She doesn't need a mother who is so sympathetic that she winds up KNOWING she's a failure.

What a girl needs in a case like that is a mother who can keep her own perspective. Instead of becoming upset and oversolicitous, a mother should say something like this:

"I know you'd like to go to the dance and I'm sorry it didn't work out for you. But things don't always go the way we'd like to have them. And when they don't, the thing to do is to look around for the next best thing.

"So why don't you invite some other girl who isn't going to the dance to come over and spend the night with you? Better yet, invite several and turn it into a slumber party."

That kind of understanding helps a girl to see things in proportion and to learn to make the best of the situation, instead of weeping about it.

And it is much easier on the mother too. For no woman should have to go through adolescence twice.

Yet that is just what some mothers do. Instead of making themselves stand aside with a common sense attitude toward their teen-ager's problems, they get right in and suffer along with the child.

And so it is unnecessarily hard on both.

Milk Production Up

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. C. J. Blanford, market administrator, says milk production in the New York-New Jersey milkshed exceeded one billion pounds in May for the first time since last August.

He said Friday dairy farmers would get a uniform farm price of $3.75 per hundredweight (46.5 quarts) for the production. In April, the farm price was $3.99 per hundredweight. It was $3.67 in May a year ago.

Blanford said the producer butterfat differential for May was 5.6 cents for each tenth of a pound of fat above or below the 3.5 per cent standard.

He said total production in May amounted to 1,051,873,572 pounds. This was 112,374,476 pounds—12 per cent—over the 939,499,096 pounds produced in April.

Betsey Alice DeWitt Weds Robert Matteson In Double Ring Ceremony at Old Dutch

MRS. ROBERT STEERE MATTESON (Photo Workshop)

Old Dutch Church formed the background for Miss Betsey Alice DeWitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewese W. DeWitt of Richmond Parkway, to Robert Steere Matteson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Howard Matteson of New Paltz.

The double ring ceremony was held on Saturday, June 14, at 4 p. m., with the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool officiating.

At the organ was Gilbert Ciccio. The senior choir of the church, of which the bride is a member, sang selections from Handel and Bach. The choir was under the direction of Mrs. Willard Burke.

White gladioli, shasta daisies, snapdragons and carnations decorated the altar.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore an ivory peau de soie gown cut on Empire lines with a cathedral train and bertha of heirloom rosepoint lace which had been worn by her mother when she was married. The bride's veil of silk illusion was held by a cap of the same lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of ivory gladioli and ivy.

Miss Adelaide Snyder, the bride's cousin, was her only attendant. Miss Snyder was attired in a pale pink organza over taffeta with a taffeta sash of harmonizing shades of pink. She also wore a band of fresh ivy leaves in her hair and carried a bouquet of pale pink roses and feathered carnations.

Benjamin H. Matteson Jr., brother of the bridegroom, was the best man. Ushers included Jan H. DeWitt of Brattleboro, Vt., brother of the bride; Silas S. Matteson of Northvale, N. J., brother of the bridegroom; Peter Coughlan, Poughkeepsie; David Schlegel, Reading, Pa.; Thomas Wood, Pottstown, Pa.

Guests were entertained at a reception held in Bethany Hall.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School and Wheelock College, Boston, Mass., has been a member of the faculty at Chambers School, Town of Ulster. Her husband is an alumnus of Kent School and Haverford College. He served four years with the navy prior to completing work for a master's degree at the Graduate School of Education, University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Matteson is a member of the faculty of English Department of Merchantville High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Matteson will spend the summer in the Pocomo Mountains. After September 1, they will be at home in Merchantville, N. J.

Do You Remember

SOPHIE MILLER

I wonder how many readers remember, Burt Morphy, in his white uniform when he sang with his lusty voice, "The Good Old Summertime" with the band at Kingston Point Park. Now the Park has gone back to its original jungle, leaving Kingston without a Hudson River dock, for pleasure or emergency. Perhaps the coming 1959 Hudson-Champlain celebration may bring about a park, a Marine Museum or a State Park.

I have before me the Mary Powell timetable of 1909 when a trip up or down the Hudson was no novelty. In those days the Queen of the Hudson used to leave Kingston at Rondout daily at 6 a. m. on the dot; arrive at Poughkeepsie at 7; Newburgh at 8; West Point 8:35 then at West 129th Street at 11 and West 42nd Street 11:20 with stops in between. Coming back it left West 42nd Street at 2 p. m. and returned to Rondout at 7:45. I guess in our youth, we thought there would always be a Mary Powell, and its whistle, that was curfew for many of us.

We had such a different world then. If there was a car in the family, it was driven only by the head of the family and usually only on Sunday. Respect had to be given our elders and the policemen and of course such important individuals as school teachers, officials, etc. Horatio Alger stories were still popular like the Luck and Pluck series and children seldom read local papers or took part or knew about politics or doings in local or national affairs. Today, radio, TV and newspapers are devoured by grade school age groups and sometimes they are up on gossip and news before their elders.

In Kingston folks took it easy. In fact it was a sort of health resort and many came up here to retire. There was Dr. C. O. Sahler's Sanitarium back in 1909 with spacious lawns and music which even Kingstonsians could enjoy if they were near the grounds. Sahler's grew their own vegetables, it was said, so had the best in season. Their carrots were from Ulster County where I personally feel they are the sweetest.

That was the days before frozen foods and cello bags. You got vegetables fresh from the garden with the dew still on it. Perhaps that is why folks lived a long time without dropping off in their prime as they are doing now for what is called "tension, high-blood pressure, heart disease."

Sahler's had Turkish, Russian and electric baths for health and relaxing and Kingstonsians often took advantage of them too.

I notice Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from 2 p. m. to 5 p. m. was reserved for ladies. That must have been a real "gab fest." I read somewhere that certain countries think so much of Turkish bath that they have a special train follow their troops so that they can take advantage of it. They feel it gives them soldiers pep and keeps them in top condition. Today folks cannot slow down to that. They'd rather swallow a pill they heard about on TV.

In 1909 in Kingston was the days of the trolley car. They ran about every 20 minutes. Trolley cars left Marius Street at 5:35 a. m. and corner North Front and Wall Street at 5:40 a. m. to connect with the Powell in Rondout. During the rush periods they ran at 10 minute intervals.

Joyce is taken from the Latin "Jucunda," meaning "filled with joy."

N. Y.'s Municipal Employees Strike In Pay Protest

NEW YORK (AP) — Municipal employees at some of New York's biggest tourist attractions voted Friday night to strike today.

Spokesmen for the institutions said the Bronx Zoo, Coney Island Aquarium, Hayden Planetarium, the Staten Island Zoo, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Cloisters, the Museum of Natural History and the Brooklyn Museum would be closed.

Some 700 members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees voted to protest alleged inequities in pay schedules under the city's career and salary plan.

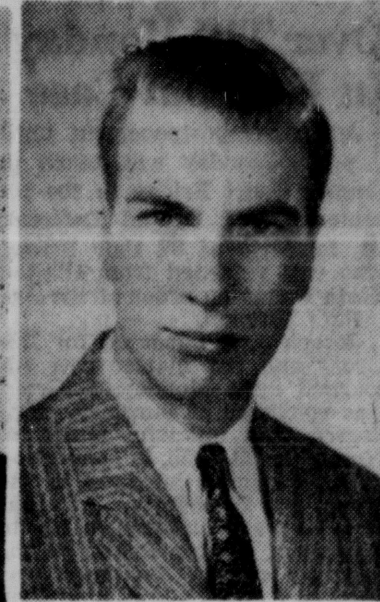

The workers left their jobs Tuesday to demonstrate in front of City Hall. The walkout closed the institutions for that day.

State law prohibits strikes by municipal employees. But the union claims the institutional employees technically are not city employees. They work for private, non-profit institutions, although the city pays their salaries and determines their pay scales.

Chamber Names Six Chairmen for Education Studies

Extensive plans were made by the educational committee of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce Thursday night to work on various phases of education and related problems. James D. Hood, of IBM, chairman of this committee, presided at the meeting in the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Six sub-committee chairmen were named. Each will work on or keep in contact with a particular activity and report to the general committee. In some cases additional members of the sub-committees were named but each chairman will have the authority to enlarge his group.

To Hold B-E Day

It was decided to sponsor a fourth annual Business-Education Day during the coming school year. Victor E. Fletcher, vice-president of Electrol, Inc., will serve as chairman of this activity, assisted by Robert E. Davis, president of the Kingston Knitting Mills and Daniel Weisberg of Weisberg's Ladies' Specialty Shop.

The possibility of another Visitation Day for businessmen to visit local schools will be considered by a committee headed by John J. Bennett of IBM.

Community College progress will be followed by Richard M. Kalish, proprietor of the Kingston Laundry, and the question of school consolidation by David Kline, optometrist and member of the Board of Education. Warren Eckels of Hercules will be a liaison chairman between the committee, the School Superintendent and the Board of Education.

Sentiment for Guidance

A great deal of favorable sentiment was expressed over the cooperative vocational guidance program in which the committee participated during the past fiscal year. Thirty different business and professional men and women met with various classes at the high school. M. A. Overfield of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. will head this activity during the coming school year, assisted by Sam Pepper, a member of the H. R. St. John Insurance firm, and architect Albert Edward Milliken.

Chairman Hood said that other possible activities are also being considered. One is some additional recognition for teachers and another is to arouse a greater public interest in all phases of school activity and education.

The next meeting of the committee will take place early in September. Chamber manager Albert Kurtz serves as secretary to the committee.

DR. STEWART JAY RITCHIE

A Doctor of Podiatry Degree was conferred upon Stewart Jay Ritchie, son of Dr. and Mrs. Saul Ritchie of 102 Mountain View Avenue, during commencement exercises held Tuesday, June 10, at New York Academy of Medicine, New York City.

Dr. Ritchie is a graduate of New York Military Academy, Cornwall-on-Hudson and received his BS from Manhattan College, Riverdale. As an undergraduate he was president of Student Council, photography editor of the College Yearbook, and assistant editor of the college newspaper.

Chairman Hood said that other possible activities are also being considered. One is some additional recognition for teachers and another is to arouse a greater public interest in all phases of school activity and education.

The next meeting of the committee will take place early in September. Chamber manager Albert Kurtz serves as secretary to the committee.

Sentencing Put Over Till Monday In DeGroat Case

A further postponement until 2 p. m. Monday was taken in County Court Friday in the sentencing of Donald DeGroat, 24, formerly of 87 Fair Street, who was returned from Clinton State Prison on order of the Appellate Division.

Joseph Avis appeared for DeGroat and the matter was adjourned until Monday. DeGroat was convicted of burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry on November 10, 1955, in connection with an alleged burglary in the Town of Woodstock. At that time he was sentenced to 1½ to 3 years at Clinton Prison on the burglary charge. Sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation. Sentence under the unlawful entry conviction was suspended entirely, on November 21, 1955, when DeGroat came before Former County Judge William A. Kelly.

An appeal was taken on the grounds DeGroat was not asked immediately prior to sentence whether he had any legal cause to show why sentence should not be pronounced. The Courts hold that question must be asked prior to sentence and not at the time the plea is taken or a verdict returned and the defendant asked the usual questions.

Later DeGroat was found guilty of rape and assault and sentenced as a second offender to a term of from 10 to 20 years in Clinton Prison. That judgment was also attacked and the Appellate Division threw out the conviction and held the conviction of assault, second degree, should stand and he will be re-sentenced also under that conviction. DeGroat was one of five accused of attacking a 17-year-old Kingston girl last July 25.

Two boxers were fighting the main bout at a small club. At the end of the first round the kid who was taking a bad beating limped back to his corner and was ready to call it a night. His manager shouted, "Manager—Don't be a fool! He ain't laid a glove on you!"

In the third round the blows bounced off the poor kid's head like a ball around a roulette table, and he barely managed to stagger to his corner. He looked up at his manager and roared, "Boxer—Now don't tell me! I know! He ain't laid a glove on me! Well, you keep a sharp eye on that referee, then, because I'm tellin' you, somebody in this ring is given me an awful beatin'!"

"It's habit," says Bruce Marshall, "not hatred, that is the real enemy of the Church of God."

You've got to do your own growing, no matter how tall your grandfather was.

Dad—Well, my son?

Son—Is there a Christian flea?

Dad—What on earth ever put that idea into your head?

Son—The preacher read it today from the Bible: "The wicked flea, when no man pursueth."

Dad—Why, Tom my, that means that the wicked men flee.

Son—Oh! Then is there a wicked woman flea?

Dad—No, no! It means that the wicked flees, runs away.

Son—Why do they run?

Dad—Who?

Son—The wicked fleas.

Dad—No, no! Don't you see? The wicked man runs away when no man is after him.

Son—Oh! Is there a woman after him?

Dad—To bed!

Whale of a Tale

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP)—Capt. Joseph Corea of the dragger "Papa Joe" tells of a struggle with a 60-ton whale that nearly pulled him and his crew to their deaths. Corea said that whales. One of them nosed into their net, apparently looking for fish on which to feed. During the whale's struggle to free itself, the captain said, the dragger's stern was pulled down to the gunwales. About then the crew was first able to play out the net. After a feverish 30-minute struggle, the fishermen managed to dispatch the whale and cut the line, allowing the carcass to sink. Capt. Corea related,

Port Jervis, Poughkeepsie Dominate DUSO Baseball Squad

Sammons Backstop Pick, Sam Kalloch Coach of Year

By TONY CORAPI
Freeman Sports Staff

Poughkeepsie High's championship baseball team and Port Jervis dominated the DUSO All-Star selections made Thursday by the DUSO Sportswriters at a meeting in the Hotel Kirkland.

The scribes picked four members from each team to the squad, selected Joe Molinaro of Poughkeepsie as the Player of the Year and named the Dutchess coach, Sam J. Kalloch, Coach of the Year.

The selections, in all instances, were unanimous, including the player of the year. Kalloch received majority vote for the honor bestowed upon him. George Falcanoff of Newburgh Free Academy got a vote from Glen Doty of the Middletown Times Herald.

Bo Gill of the Newburgh News felt that Falcanoff should have been selected, but he failed to attend the session to press the voting of the NFA mentor.

Kalloch Named

On the basis of record, it would have been difficult to make any other selection than the one made. Kalloch's team won the DUSO championship two years running and such an achievement merits consideration.

Newburgh finished strongly to place second in the league. It was quite an accomplishment for Coach Falcanoff, who had not been given much hope of being a contender with seven of his players ineligible because of scholastic deficiencies.

Frankie Sammons, workhorse of the Kingston High team, was one of the two catchers picked. The other was Dave Petrozek of Middletown. The latter, a senior, was the backbone of the Middles, which finished in a tie with Port Jervis for third place.

Sammons batted .315 for the season and worked flawlessly behind the plate. Not a power hitter, the Maroon backstop did an excellent job of handling Coach Al Gruner's pitching staff.

Devore Best Hitter

Russ Devore of Port Jervis, shortstop selection, is the dream team's leading hitter with a .467 mark. An excellent fielder with a quick pair of hands, he moved easily in both directions.

Paul Schnitt of Newburgh, who tossed four DUSO shutouts, was the second pitching choice. The southpaw was largely responsible for NFA's rise. Two of his shutouts were against Kingston. Bill Pepper, Port Jervis, and winner over Molinaro was the third choice.

Alex Osowick, a good sticker, got the first base nod. He batted .415 in the DUSO and .465 in the regular season. Boice of Kingston for the initial sack honor.

Marty Corcoran, Port Jervis speedster, took second base honors. He batted .369 and pilfered 16 bases. Coaches have been quoted as saying that "Corcoran is the best high school player around."

Dick Lundgren of Middletown got no opposition for the third base berth. He probably is the team's best all-around performer. A heady player, he hits in the clutch and has a strong throwing arm.

Pioneer Outfield

The outfield is a sole Poughkeepsie selection. On the strength of hitting power, Carl Cirniglia, Deke Johnson and Larry Levine, were named.

Cirniglia batted .330, Johnson .376 and Levine .344. Levine edged out John Pliego of Newburgh, a fine performer, with a batting average of over .300.

There was no opposition to the selection of Molinaro. He was undoubtedly the classiest pitcher in the Hudson Valley and by far the best in the DUSO, despite two setbacks.

He had a 6-2 league record and 7-2 overall. He was beaten by Port Jervis and Newburgh. In the Port game he failed to give up a hit and against NFA he went down to defeat on one hit.

He was touched for 17 hits in 51 innings. He walked 30, struck out 85 and gave up 14 runs, seven against Middletown. An excellent schoolboy record.

Violators Beware

MADISON, Wis., (AP) — Wisconsin game wardens hope to put the beat on more fish and game law violators this year. The State Conservation Department is equipping them with telescopes. With these, the wardens claim, they can read license plate numbers on a violator's car more than a mile away.

Sports in Brief

John Brotzmann, Michigan State boxing coach, is president of the National Assn. of Collegiate Boxing Coaches.

Stan Musial, now a member of baseball's 3,000-hit club, made his first major league hit off Jim Tobin of the Boston Braves, Sept. 17, 1941, in St. Louis.

The University of Utah has appeared five times in the National Invitation basketball tournament in Madison Square Garden. Utah won the title in 1947.

Marbletown School Cops County Softball Crown

The Marbletown Elementary School captured the 1958 Ulster County softball championship by defeating Hurley 5-3 in a game curtailed by rain Friday at Stone Ridge.

It was the second straight championship for the boys of Coach Charles Ayasse and came with a fine five-hit pitching effort of Frankie Stella.

Charles Palen gave up eight hits for the losers but was a victim of shoddy support. Marbletown took a 3-0 lead in the second and on Lyons' leadoff single, two errors and a fielder's choice plus a clutch single by Frank Cirone.

Henninger's homer made it 4-0 but Hurley rallied for three runs in the fourth on Canning's walk, back to back doubles by Palen and Wendell, an out and Vinnie Crantz's double.

Marbletown scored the icer in the fourth to lead 5-3. The game was called in the fifth with no outs, the bases loaded and the rain pouring. The umpire was Jason Goumas.

Hurley and Marbletown finished the season with identical 6-1 records. Hurley beat Marbletown 6-5 in the season's opener while tailender Woodstock upset Hurley 8-2 last week necessitating a playoff.

Tennis Title On Line Today

HAMILTON, N. Y. (AP)—The championships were on the line today in the Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament.

The winners in the singles semi-final matches in the morning were to meet in the afternoon to determine the champions. All matches were rained out Friday.

Kay Champion of Cornell, faced Will Scarlett of Lehigh and Navy's John Griffith was matched with unseeded Lowell Latshaw of Lehigh.

The doubles final will pit Scarlett and Latshaw against Joe Abrahamson and Art Merovick of Colgate.

Ted Williams batted sixth when he broke into the big leagues opening day in 1939.

Kingston Yanks At Staatsburg In NY-NJ Tilt

The Kingston Yankees, yet to see daylight in the New York-New Jersey Baseball League, will attempt to break into the win column tomorrow at Staatsburg, not an easy task.

The Knickerbockers are the league's current leaders and have a potent lineup which could delay Manager Sal Ciacio's journey into the win circle.

In all probability, Joe Molinaro, the DUSO player of the year, will go against the Yanks. Ciacio didn't announce his starter, but it likely that Jerry Davi will get the nod.

In other league action tomorrow, Beacon will be at Nyack and Saugerties will journey to Spring Valley.

Poughkeepsie takes on Jersey City in the Garden State at 8:30 tonight.

Baltimore Hits Road, Circus Invades Stadium

BALTIMORE (AP)—The circus moves into Memorial Stadium when the Baltimore Orioles take to the road next week, but baseball fans got a sneak three-ring preview here Friday night.

The Orioles and the Chicago White Sox battled four hours and two minutes to a 5-5 tie called because of curfew. It was a 14-inning bizarre match for no decision, but it could hardly be called no contest.

Most of the 15,418 fans stayed until the end of the game which started appropriately on Friday the 13th.

Starters Billy Pierce for Chicago and Jack Harshman for Baltimore each allowed only one hit for the first six innings.

Harshman, who had allowed only two singles in eight innings, gave up three more to start the ninth. He was lifted, but three Oriole relief pitchers couldn't stop the Sox who punched seven singles to go ahead 5-4.

In addition to the pitching changes, three pinch hitters and a pair of pinch runners were used during the wild half inning. When Baltimore came to bat, Chicago Manager Al Lopez inserted four players in the field for the first time and shifted the positions of three others.

Pitcher Bill Fischer retired the first two Oriole batters, but Baltimore skipper Paul Richards sent up Jim Marshall to bat for the homer-hitting Busby, and Marshall responded with a homer to tie the score at 5-5.

Each team made only one hit the rest of the game.

George (Doc) Nelson is retiring this year after 38 years as wrestling coach and trainer at Utah State University.

For County Title

Dungey, Gaffney First Herdegen Golf Entries

Harold Dungey of Woodstock and Judge Charles H. Gaffney of Twaalfskill were first to register in an early batch of 17 entries for the 8th annual Herdegen Memorial golf tournament.

The tournament, which is symbolic of the county amateur championships, opens Saturday, June 21, at Shawangunk Country Club in Ellenville.

Among other early entries is William (Buzzy) Costello of the Kingston High School varsity, who at 15 is one of the youngest players ever to register for the Herdegen.

Also among the entries shooting for the coveted golf crown are Judge Charles H. Gaffney, County Judge Louis G. Bruhn, Clarence C. (Dubby) Raichle, 1952 champion, all of Twaalfskill Club.

The first Wiltwyck contingent includes Charles J. (Jimmy) Turk, Bill Kaufman, one of the hottest golfers of 1958; Henry (Bud) Leininger, Richard Stewart, George Cosenza, Bob Daley and Roy Vogt, who has finished in the money in six of seven tournaments, with a third-place finish in 1954.

Barger Enters

Stephen de Lizio of Emory University, William W. (Bill) Polk and Frank Barger, the marathon golfer, are other Woodstock entries.

Gerald Proudfoot of IBM has registered as an unattached entry.

The second round of the tournament will be played Sunday, June 22, at Woodstock Country Club at 10 a. m. After a 36-hole cut, the tournament resumes at Wiltwyck on Sunday, June 29. Finalists will be guests of Twaalfskill Club at a luncheon.

The champion will receive the Herdegen Memorial trophy and a full set of golf clubs this year. Nine other merchandise awards will be given.

Deadline for entries is midnight, Wednesday, June 18. Entries and entry fees should be filed with Ralph E. Gardner, tournament secretary, 50 Johnston Avenue.

Hagge Maintains Round Robin Lead

MARBLEHEAD, Mass. (AP)—Weather and stamina were vital factors today as Marlene Hagge and Louise Suggs snatched 1-2 going into a double round at the $12,000 Round Robin Women's Invitation Golf Tournament.

Mrs. Hagge maintained her advantage with a plus 31-point score followed by Miss Suggs who gained 20 Friday for a plus 26 and second place.

"I play well in the rain," Marlene said after informed scattered showers were forecast for the grueling 36-hole test today at Tedesco Country Club's 6,147-yard, par 73 course.

In addition, Marlene has the advantage of youth over the veteran Miss Suggs and third-place Patty Berg (plus 13 points).

The tournament, which winds up in a fifth round Sunday, involves 16 pros grouped in foursomes which change from round to round. A plus point is awarded for each stroke under the three opponents and minus points for strokes over them.

The one gruesome statistic about the Yankees' home opener Thursday night was the attendance. Less than 125 persons saw the dramatic 14-inning, 2-2, deadlock which was terminated by mutual agreement of the managers.

It was a pleasant, warm night, the kind that ordinarily figured to attract a good turnout. There is no sense laboring the point. There seems to exist a general unanimity among baseball fans these days to stay away from the ball parks in droves.

Especially on a night when the real Yankees are playing at Yankee Stadium and you're one of the lucky fellows who can pull in the channel without feeling like throwing the old set into the river.

About Another 2-2 Tie:

The 14-inning tie in which no runs were scored after the sixth inning recalled other local marathons but the greatest remains that historic struggle that took place at the old Athletic Field back on August 10, 1903. It was a titanic 20-inning struggle that wound up in a 2-2 tie between Kingston and Hudson in the old Hudson River League that also included Saugerties, Peekskill, Newburgh, Catskill and Poughkeepsie.

The immortal Donnelly pitched for Kingston that day. He allowed only six hits in 20 innings, walked only one batter and struck out 15. Kingston collected 15 hits off Berger and Garity, the Hudson pitchers. The contest was remarkably free of boots, with only two errors charged against each team.

Hudson scored its two runs in the fifth inning on Phalen's single. Peacock's triple to center and a long fly by J. Quinn. Donnelly's single and Buttermore's double accounted for a Kingston run in the eighth. The tying run in the ninth was the result of Daly's base on balls, steal of second and Lawson's two bagger.

What the Papers Said:

The account in the newspapers said of the game "No more runs were scored and after 20 innings of the fastest game ever played along the Hudson River, Umpire Murphy called the game after Peacock struck out, owing to the darkness."

"Donnelly pitched a wonderful game striking out 15 men and giving only one base on balls. Beckendorf's work behind the bat was great. He caught three men stealing second and two napping on first base. Both Berger, who retired after the ninth inning, and Garity did fine work in the box. Peacock also caught a splendid game. Fielding of both teams was sensational. Umpire Murphy's work, too, was good."

"There has been some discussion as to whether the 20-inning game here was not the record one for the season. At Pittsburgh, Kan., the home team beat Joplin, Mo., in the longest game of the season. At this game 21 innings were played and the score was 5 to 4."

A footnote adds that the following Sunday the Kingston team played at Hudson before a crowd estimated at 2,500, the largest ever to watch a game there. The score was Kingston 8, Hudson 3.

The boxscore of the game reveals only 58 putouts for Kingston, a minor detail

Kingston (2)	AB H PO A E	Hudson (2)	AB H PO A E
Buttermore, rf	2 2 2 0 0	Ely, cf	8 3 0 0 0
Peoples, lf	8 0 4 1 0	Gallagher, ss	8 2 0 7 0
Daly, 2b	8 1 8 8 0	Garity, rf	4 1 1 5 1

Fay, 1b	8 1 12 1 1	J. Quinn, 2b	8 1 6 3 1
Beckendorf, c	7 3 17 5 0	M. Quinn, 2b	8 2 6 5 1

		McDonald, rf	4 0 1 0 0
	71 15 58 32 2		69 12 60 28 2

The boxscore shows that Lawson, Beckendorf and Donnelly had three hits each. Beckendorf later went on to major league fame with the Philadelphia Athletics. The Hudson pitchers must have been tossing low-breaking stuff, if you'll note the 30 putouts for the first baseman. It must have been quite a show for the folks present. And they did have people at ball games in those days.

West Defeats East in Prep Cage 'Series'

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—The West beat the East 76-66 Friday night in the "world series" of prep basketball, although 6-foot-3 Roger Strickland of Jacksonville, Fla., outscored 6-11 Bill McGill of Los Angeles.

Strickland scored 21 points to McGill's 20, but every starter on the West team was in double figures. It was the third straight victory for the West after a loss in the opening game at Hutchinson, Kan. They will play here again tonight.

Four-Team City Baseball League Gets Underway Thursday

Ber-Van Motors New Entry, Two Clubs Drop Out

There will be a City Baseball League after all. After some weeks of wrangling as to whether or not the "old faithful" circuit would be continued, it was agreed this week that baseball will be played under that banner, but with one less team. Action will begin Thursday.

Four teams will make up the loop instead of the five that participated last season. Two of last year's familiar names have dropped out, but one new has been brought in to bring the total up to four.

Ertel's Engineers and the Eagles have dropped out. Fred Davi, president, said the birds were forced to withdraw because most of its players are in service. He gave no reason why the Engineers did not reenter, but presumably for the lack of players.

Ber Van Motors is the new entry. Paul Gardner will manage the club which will consist of former High School and Babe Ruth players.

When the cry play ball is yelled at 7:15 p. m. Thursday, defending champions Nadler Motors will take on the Ulster Electrics, the nine that finished in the runnerup position last season.

Nadler's is managed by Jim Ferraro, while the Electrics will again be handled by Jack Watzka. Jack Schatzel guides the Jones Dairy club.

Davi announced that games will be played on Tuesday and Thursday at Dietz Stadium.

Other officers besides Davi are: Ed Murphy, vice president, and George Magley, secretary.

Carter Ready For Heavies, Prefers Valdes

NEW YORK (AP) — Harold Carter, the mystic, deep thinker, lover of poetry and philosopher (he says) is ready to start mingling with the top heavyweights. Carter dropped Nietzsche and Keats to spar with Besmanoff (Willi), a heavy muscled German, Friday night at Madison Square Garden. He got away with a unanimous decision over Willi although he tired in the late rounds.

"Did you have any poetic thoughts?" a man asked in the dressing room.

"I can over a few lines," he answered. Sitting on a rubbing table, he spoke:

"If you can keep your head, while all around you men are losing theirs"

Gene Tunney wasn't around so the boxing writers couldn't check Harold for accuracy. It seemed every one had forgotten to bring their copy of Kipling to the fights.

"We're ready for Nino Valdes," said Manager Gene Holmes in a more prosaic mood. "Then we'll take any of the top four, including the champ."

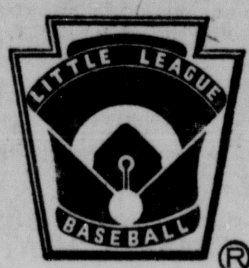

Carter, 191½, to Besmanoff's 193 pounds, admitted he "needed the fight." He also admitted he was a little "fatigued." Just when it appeared he was going to flatten Besmanoff, the German would come up with a flurry that would wobble Harold. There were no knockdowns.

All three officials scored it lopsided in favor of the 22-year-old boxer from Linden, N.J., who was coming off a 17-month layoff after serving in the Army.

John R. Slowik of New York City will captain the 1958-59 Yale track team.

Cal Ermer, manager of the Birmingham Barons of the Southern Assn., formerly coached soccer at Baltimore University.

Michigan State has two NCAA weight lifting champions in Joe Dewland at 132 pounds and Dave Norton at 148.

Yankees Tounce American Giants

The Yankees tounced the Giants, 14-7 in an American Little League game last night which was called after four innings because of darkness.

The winning team scored six runs in the second and five in the third to put the contest on ice. But the Giants fought back with a combination of seven runs in the third and fourth frames, but the lead was too much for them to overcome.

Kenny Heppener went the distance to get the victory. Joe Misasi was the loser. Both pitchers were effective as far as hits were concerned, but errors ballooned the scores. The Giants got only three hits, two by Turner, and the Yanks five, two each by G. Bush and Don Keuren. The latter had a triple.

The summaries: Yankees — 14, 165 2-14 Heppener and G. Bush. Misasi and Scholl.

Prepping for Akins

Basilio Gets Shot At Aragon Aug. 28

CHICAGO (AP) — Former middleweight champion Carmen Basilio has signed for an Aug. 28 bout with Art Aragon in hope of getting a shot at welterweight champion Virgil Akins this fall.

Basilio, dethroned by Sugar Ray Robinson in Chicago Stadium March 25, got tired of Robinson's stalling on a possible rematch, said Basilio's co-managers, John De John and Joe Netro.

The Basilio-Aragon match in Los Angeles, a 12-rounder guaranteeing Basilio $60,000, was announced Friday by matchmaker George Parnassus.

The announcement came just before the International Boxing Club revealed Basilio's willingness to fight Akins for his "old welter" crown.

An elimination series for Basilio's vacated welter title was climaxed June 6 when Akins became champion by stopping Vince Martinez in four rounds.

Truman Gibson, IBC president, said De John and Netro had asked him to start negotiating for a Basilio-Akins fight, although much would depend upon how Basilio performed against Aragon.

Basilio weighed well under the middleweight limit of 160 in his two fights with Robinson.

Aragon, a big drawing card on the West Coast, will get a $35,000 or $40,000 guarantee, or a 25 per cent slice of the purse in the Aug. 28 match.

It is mandatory to wear red clothing while hunting in Utah.

Ted Dailey and Joe Szombathy, two assistant football coaches at Syracuse University, both come from Phillipsburg, N. J.

A. G. Patterson Dies

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP) — Archibald G. Patterson, 87, one of the founders of Nassau County on Long Island and the father of county executive A. Holly Patterson, died Friday night at Nassau Hospital here.

Patterson was the oldest Republican county committeeman. He had been active in political and civic affairs until he entered the hospital last week.

Patterson came to Long Island from his native Brooklyn in the early 1890s. When Queens and Brooklyn decided in 1898 to become part of New York City, he favored having the remainder of Long Island remain separate.

He and a brother, Thomas, the county's first clerk, were credited with selecting the name of Nassau County. In 1924 Patterson left the only public office he ever held — county superintendent for the Town of Hempstead.

The rod bait provides a place to stick the rod butts so you can fight a fish with both hands.

This is all right as long as the fish is relatively small, say up to 150 pounds. After that you have to sit down in a fighting chair and wear one of several kinds of harness.

There are the shoulder, kid-ney and seat harness.

The shoulder harness resembles a vest and enables the angler to use his back and shoulders to his better advantage. The shoulder harness pulls from a point about two feet above the fishing chair. It is suitable for the smaller types of big game fish.

The kidney harness is roughly diamond-shaped, approximately three feet long and 10 to 14 inches wide at the back, and usually padded with sponge rubber.

The kidney harness absorbs the strain at a point about half way between the shoulder and the chair. It is often recommended for anglers below average weight, for women and those using tackle heavier than 39-thread.

Sometimes the seat harness is secured to the seat and is thus more in the nature of an anchor than a transmitter of power.

It is employed chiefly by the fisherman who uses ultra-heavy tackle.

Plate Glass New Weapon

NEW YORK (AP) — Add a new weapon to the arsenal of New York City's youth gangs: Plate glass to be hurled from rooftops.

The strategy is to lure a invading gang into position and then to shower the invaders with glass.

This, police said Friday, was the plan of 15 lower East Side youths, most of them of Italian extraction, awaiting a Puerto Rican gang Thursday night.

Belleayre Chair Lift on Daily Runs June 28

The chair lift at the Belleayre Mountain Ski Center, Highmount, will switch from week-end to daily operation for the summer beginning Saturday, June 28.

This popular central Catskills ski center, operated by the New York State Conservation Department, has been in operation for several years and since the lift was opened in 1950 has carried approximately one million passengers to the summit of the mountain.

Although the lift was designed primarily for the use of skiers, it has become increasingly popular with summer visitors as an easy way to reach the top of Belleayre and enjoy panoramic views of the surrounding mountains, valleys and forests. An extensive picnic area with fireplaces, benches and tables stretches along the ridge. In the fall during the height of the brilliant foliage display, thousands visit the ski center and make the chair lift trip to the top of the mountain to witness nature's flaming foliage display.

With the New York Thruway passing through Kingston, some 35 miles from Belleayre development, the chair lift is only a two hours drive from Albany and about three hours from New York City, yet it is in the heart of the Catskill vacationland, off Route 28 at Highmount, between Pine Hill and Fleischmanns.

During the summer months the lift will operate from 9:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Clifford Belows is the principal park superintendent at the ski center.

Reds Soften Words

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany sought with soft words today to halt the mass flight of scientists and teachers.

More than 1,300 teachers and scientists plus some 450 doctors and dentists have fled to West Germany and West Berlin this year. Refugee officials report that the big complaint is too much political interference with work and personal lives. East Germany's Stalinist party boss, Walter Ulbricht, told his Central Committee that more patience would have to be shown in persuading the older intellectuals to communism.

George Washington received 5,000 acres of Kentucky land when he sold his race horse Magnolio.

Big Guy Out Of Doldrums, Yankees Lose

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jackie Jensen and Dick Gernert have been slugging the home runs, and Frank Malzone has been battling with the bat, but look who's finally started to hit for the bustling Boston Red Sox — a guy named Ted Williams.

The Big Guy, who last year won the batting crown at an unlikely 39 with an equally unlikely .388 average, has been having it tough so far. But Friday night he cracked a pair of singles, drove in two runs and scored one while reaching his percentage high — .295—of the season as the Red Sox tightened their grip on second place with a 9-3 victory over Kansas City.

That left Boston eight games behind the American League leading New York Yankees, who were beaten 4-2 by the Detroit Tigers. Cleveland defeated fourth place Washington 10-1, and Baltimore and the Chicago White Sox ended a 5-5 tie at 14 innings because of a Baltimore curfew.

In defeating the Yankees, the Tigers won their third in four shots under new manager Bill Norman. It was Bobby Shantz' third consecutive defeat.

Billy Hoelt won it for a 5-5 record, but needed relief help. He retired the first six he faced, then gave up Mickey Mize's 12th homer for a 1-1 tie in the fourth.

8th for Ray

Ray Narleski won his eighth with a four-hitter for the Indians. Chuck Stobbs lost his fifth.

The White Sox blanked out two hits for eight innings, chased Jack Harshman with seven singles and five runs for a 5-4 lead in the ninth. Then Jim Marshall, pinch-hitting for Jim Busby (whose 3-run homer junked Billy Pierce's one-hit shutout in the seventh), lined the tying home run off Bill Fischer with two out in the ninth.

Adios Day Wins Hopeful Stakes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Adios Day, a chestnut colt, cost Hugh Grant of Bradford, Pa. $11,500 as a yearling. Grant now has his investment back plus $8,825.

The 2-year-old pacer picked up $17,450 for Grant Friday night at Roosevelt Raceway by winning the lifetime earnings to $20,325.

Entered by Del Miller with Adios Chief, Adios Day raced by the Chief in the stretch to score by a length and a quarter in 2:06 1-5.

Miller reined Adios Chief while his assistant, Ned Bower, was in the sulky behind Adios Day. The entry paid $3.00.

Royal Melody

At Buffalo Raceway, Royal Melody captured the first leg of the $15,000 pacing derby with a length-and-a-quarter triumph over Night Patrol. Royal Melody, owned by Brown Valley Farm Inc. of Detroit, was driven by Jack Ackerman in 2:02 4-5. He returned $19.20.

The race was the first of four preliminaries. The $20,000 final and a $7,500 consolation for a total of $87,500 will be raced July 25.

At Saratoga

Swartley Hanover, driven by owner Lewis Kalil of Bethel, Conn., won one division of the $3,000 Greenville trot at Saratoga Raceway. He paid $4.30. Dunbar Bostwick's Dancing Demon from Shelburne, Vt., captured the other division for a $11.20 payoff. Harry Whitney was in the sulky.

Vernon Downs

At Vernon Downs, Pep Hanover took the lead at the three-quarter mark for a two-length victory in the feature pace. The Dean Hanover stallion driven by Garland Garney, returned $11.20. The time was 2:06 4-5 on a muddy track.

Pretzels Gain In Eastern Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jack Jubiszy, who joined the Reading Indians less than two weeks ago, is helping keep his club in contention for the southern division lead in the Eastern League.

The Reading third baseman delighted a partisan crowd of 704 by slamming an eighth inning home run that tied Albany at 5-5 Friday night. Then with two out and the bases loaded in the 11th, he hit a single that gave the Indians a 6-5 triumph.

The homer was his second since entering the league.

York failed to gain any ground on Lancaster, the southern division leader, as it split a double-header with Springfield, losing the opener 3-0 and taking the nightcap 7-4 on some dramatic late-inning hitting.

Williamsport defeated Allentown 5-2 at Williamsport while Lancaster and Binghamton had their scheduled game of division leader rain out at Binghamton.

Giants Snap Five-Game Losing Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Joey Jay, the youngster touted as having the stuff to be another Warren Spahn for the Milwaukee Braves, may just be starting, but he already has one of Spahn's traits down pat. Two of his three victories in the majors are shut-outs.

It was Ben Geraghty, Milwaukee's top minor league boss, who tagged the 22-year-old right-hander as a comer who could become a consistent ace, such as Spahn, who among other records leads active National League pitchers with 42 shutouts.

That's a big order for Jay, who hasn't been a ball of fire since signing for a bonus in 1953. But there wasn't much wrong with his stuff Friday night—as he blanked St. Louis 2-0 in a game held to six innings by rain.

Braves by 1½

That retained Milwaukee's 1½ game lead as second place San Francisco ended a losing slump at five with a 6-1 victory over Philadelphia. Los Angeles scored two in the ninth for a 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh. Cincinnati and the Chicago Cubs were idled by rain.

Anty Goes Route

Southpaw Johnny Antonelli won his sixth with a five-hitter that gave the Giants their first complete game since beating St. Louis June 1. The Giants were held to three hits and an unearned run by loser Robin Roberts (5-7) in seven innings.

Willie Mays broke an 0-for-10 slump with a third-inning single for the Giants. He is tied for the NL bat lead at .392 with Cardinal Stan Musial, who was 0-for-2.

Dodger Clem Labine won his third in relief. Ron Kline (6-7) was the loser.

CAMP DRUM, N. Y. (AP)—The two-year-old son of an Army sergeant drowned in the Black River Friday despite efforts to save him via a helicopter.

The boy, Leslie, son of Sgt. and Mrs. Edgar Sanborn of Lawrence, Mass., fell into the river while playing with companions.

The helicopter hovered over rocks where the boy's body had lodged. Warrant Officer Henry Singer dropped from the craft and pulled the body to shore. Efforts were made to revive the child.

Protect Consumer For Good Business, Credit League Told

Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz said today that all segments of business enterprise must establish a system of policing themselves with a rigid code of ethics in order to provide maximum protection for the consumer as well as for the legitimate businessman.

"We must maintain a close and careful scrutiny of business conduct and behavior. While we serve to afford a maximum protection for the consumer we also try to educate him to the lures and pitfalls which abound and betray."

The Attorney General's remarks were contained in a speech before the convention of the New York State Credit Union League, Inc., at the Laurels Country Club, Sackett Lake, Monticello, N. Y., this morning.

"In the law there is an ancient adage: Caveat Emptor. As you know, it means: 'Let the Buyer Beware.' It means, also, that a purchaser buys at his own risk."

"It is crystal clear that this maxim may be carried too far for it is vital that in any event the unwary buyer be fully and adequately protected when he makes a purchase."

"If the seller misrepresents the buyer or employs devious tactics to induce a sale, it is he who should suffer the consequences, not the innocent purchaser."

"It is absolutely necessary that all sections of business establish a system of policing themselves with a rigid code of ethics in order to provide maximum protection to the consumer and the legitimate businessman."

"While we serve to afford a maximum protection for the consumer we also try to educate him to the lures and pitfalls which abound and betray. Indeed, I say, let the buyer beware. Let him beware of the multitude of sharp practices which calculatingly seek his hard-earned cash."

Iron Workers May Walk Off Upstate Projects Tuesday

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Two thousand members of Upstate locals of the International Assn. of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Ironworkers are scheduled to walk off jobs across most of the state Tuesday.

The strike could halt most major construction in Upstate New York. It would involve construction jobs from Niagara Falls to the Albany area.

Joseph R. Sweet, president of Rochester Local 32 and spokesman for the Upstate council, said Friday that other building trades union members are expected to honor picket lines.

The contract for the Upstate workers expired May 31. Individual locals negotiate with employer groups in their respective areas.

Sweet said the union wanted a 25-cent hourly increase over the present scale of $3.50 an hour.

The current scale is high, Sweet said, but work, subject to weather, building activity and other factors, is not steady.

Sweet said the strike would affect work on schools, hospitals, highways, industrial and commercial buildings.

Individual locals are scheduled to meet Monday morning to plan the walk-out strategy, he said.

Ironworkers from the Albany local jurisdiction to the New York City metropolitan area are not involved in the current dispute.

Missing Youth Found Drowned in Lake

SCHROON LAKE, N. Y. (AP)—Francis J. Hill, 17, of Pottersville, who with his younger brother had been missing from their home since June 4, was drowned Friday night in Schroon Lake.

State Police said Hill apparently had been fishing. He was clutching his fishing rod when his body was recovered.

Troopers said Hill and his brother, Joseph, 14, had been working part time at Blue Sky Lodge. Joseph identified his brother's body.

Dr. Patrick Huntington, Warren County coroner, issued a certificate of accidental death due to drowning.

FDR Jr. Is Named In $9,200,000 Suit

NEW YORK (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. is one of the defendants named in a $9,200,000 damage suit brought by a former partner who says he was squeezed out of a profitable foreign car distributorship.

Dyke Cullum, of Texas and Maryland, filed the suit in Federal Court here Friday naming Roosevelt, Vincent A. Garibaldi, president of the Fiat Motor Co. and three corporations as defendants.

Cullum charged he was ousted from an auto distributor partnership he shared with Roosevelt. He said he put up $48,500 capital and lent Roosevelt $43,500 to put into Roosevelt-Cullum Motors of Washington, D. C., last November. He said Roosevelt put up only $5,000 of his own money.

She Has Last Word

UTICA, N. Y. (AP)—A couple of local bigwigs had a run in with Marie the chimpanzee Friday. Marie had the last word, too.

She escaped from the city zoo and police, armed with shotguns and revolvers, chased her about the grounds for an hour. Then she met up with Park Superintendent Joseph Arcuri and Parks Commissioner Edward A. Hanna.

Arcuri waved a banana and Hanna slipped a rope over the large chimpanzee's head.

But as Arcuri returned her to her cage, Marie bit his hand.

Boac May Land Jets

NEW YORK (AP)—The Port of New York Authority has given British Overseas Airways Corp. permission to conduct several demonstration jet landings at Idlewild Airport.

The landings will be with a new De Havilland Comet 2E jet airliner and will take place later this month and early July.

Since 1951 the authority has barred takeoffs or landings at the city's air terminals by pure jet or prop-jet aircraft without permission because of the noise.

His Wife Is Expecting Another Child Shortly

Mrs. Rose, a practical nurse, pleaded the same day, but her husband's arraignment was delayed because he attempted suicide.

Rose, a junior at Fredonia State Teachers College until his arrest, tried to hang himself with his shoe laces in his jail cell.

He was brought from Gowanda State Hospital Friday for arraignment before Supreme Court Justice Hamilton Ward and then returned to the hospital for further observation.

His wife is expecting another child shortly.

Car Kills Boy, He Dies

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A 62-year-old man died of a heart attack minutes after his car fatally injured a 3-year-old boy.

Police said Charles Rief collapsed Friday after he carried the injured child from the street to the sidewalk.

The youngster, Paul Tomich, died later.

Strike May Tie Up 600 Vessels By Sunday Night

NEW YORK (AP)—A strike tying up more than 600 passenger ships, freighters and tankers in east and gulf coast ports appears likely for Sunday midnight.

But negotiators planned to try again tomorrow to avert the strike. Talks Friday produced little progress.

The unions, the National Maritime Union, the American Radio Assn., and the Marine Engineers Beneficial Assn., said their members would not work Monday after current three-year pacts expire at midnight Sunday.

Typographical Error Balloons His Check

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—How would you feel if you received a $1,000,000.00 check from your bank with the notation "please negotiate as soon as possible?"

Astonished? Elated? Mystified? Incredible yet hopeful? Kenneth Neitz felt all of that when just such a check arrived at his home three days ago.

Neitz, who works at a local belt factory where he plates buckles, went to see the bank officials Friday.

"A typographical error, Mr. Neitz," they assured him—and handed him a new $3.80 check for the rebate they had intended in the first place.

Jury Acquits Man In Fatal Stabbing

LOCKPORT, N. Y. (AP)—John T. Ferrell has been acquitted of second-degree murder charges in the stabbing of a friend during a wine-drinking party in Niagara Falls.

Ferrell, 19, was accused of slaying Lenzell Freney, 23, last April when an argument suddenly flared between the two Niagara Falls men.

A Niagara County jury of nine men and three women acquitted Ferrell Friday night after three hours' deliberation.

Ferrell's attorney said the stabbing had been done in self-defense.

Niagara County Judge Frank J. Kronenberg presided.

To Re-Try Cohen

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ex-gambler Mickey Cohen will be retried on a charge of assaulting a federal officer.

A jury was dismissed Friday when it couldn't agree on his guilt or innocence.

The second trial was set for July 21.

"It's a dastardly thing," said Cohen. "It's a way of breaking a man's back—in this case financially. I can't afford another trial."

Cohen is charged with assaulting narcotics agent Howard Chappell. Cohen said he went to Chappell's office to inquire about a report that narcotics agents were trying to frame him.

Pilot Reports Near Miss of Airliner, Jet

DENVER (AP)—The pilot of a United Air Lines DC6 airliner with 53 persons aboard said his plane narrowly missed a collision with three unidentified jet aircraft over the Rocky Mountains late Friday.

Capt. J. C. Moody of Denver said he took evasive action to avoid a possible collision shortly after taking off from Salt Lake City. He said the three jets passed under his four-engine airliner. He did not indicate by what margin he escaped a possible collision.

A UAL spokesman said a report of the incident will be made to the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

U. S. Survey Lease Is Extended for Kinzua Dam Work

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The federal government may continue surveying until June 30, 1959, part of the Allegheny Indian reservation in connection with the proposed Kinzua Dam.

Federal District Judge Justin C. Morgan Friday extended a federal lease of the land for one year. The government will deposit $1,800 for the lease.

The survey lease has no bearing on the principal question of whether the government may seize land for the project against the wishes of the Seneca Indians on the reservation.

A request by the U. S. Corps of Engineers for the extension was opposed by the Seneca Indian Nation on the ground that surveyors were harassing the Indians who live on the 12,250 acres involved.

The proposed dam, at Kinzua, Pa., 10 miles below the state line, would be to control the flow of the Allegheny River. It would cost an estimated $111,000,000.

The question of land seizure is in the courts in another case.

Caldwell of Santa Ana, Calif., who has just completed his sophomore year at Orange Coast Junior College; Miss Beverly Johnson of Olean, N. Y., a medical secretary, and Miss Dorcas Estela Diaz of New York, a graduate of Eastern Baptist College, St. David's, Pa.

Children's Find May Be Indian Cemetery

CRYSTAL BEACH, Ont. (AP)—An ancient Indian burial ground may have been unearthed by five children playing in sand dunes at Bay Beach.

The children found a skull while playing Friday.

Constables later unearthed enough bones to fill a six-quart basket. A flint hunting knife also was found.

Dr. A. J. Legris, Bertie Township coroner, said he believed the bones were of an Indian woman who had been buried for a very long time.

The children were Henry Burgess and Thelma Johnston, and three sons of publisher William J. Connors III of the Buffalo Courier-Express, Chris, William and Robert Connors.

The bones will be turned over to a provincial pathologist.

Jet Search Continues

WESTHAMPTON BEACH, N. Y. (AP)—An air search for a jet plane reported missing off the Long Island coast resumed today.

Three Coast Guard cutters and aircraft from three bases failed Friday to find Lt. James D. Bowman, 23, who was piloting a F86 Sabrejet fighter-interceptor.

The searchers today were concentrating on an area in the Atlantic Ocean about 25 miles southwest of here.

An oil slick was reported sighted in the area Friday and a Navy blimp reported what appeared to be a body floating in the same area.

Bowman left McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey for the Suffolk County Air Force Base here Friday morning.

Compromise Bill On Rivers, Harbors Clears Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $1,556,693,400 compromise authorization bill for rivers and harbors has cleared the Senate Public Works Committee.

The senators approved the bill Friday. It is $23,306,600 less than was in a bill vetoed by President Eisenhower April 15.

Two projects in New York State, previously objected to by the Budget Bureau, are included in the new bill. They are a flood-protection job on the Mohawk River, estimated to cost $2,069,000, and a $1,938,000 navigation project for Irondequoit Bay, near Rochester.

A committee aide said the Budget Bureau had withdrawn its objections to the projects.

Sen. Robert Kerr (D-Okla.), chairman of a Senate public works subcommittee, said the bill was generally accepted by the Budget Bureau. However, there was no assurance that it would meet with Eisenhower's approval.

Other flood-control projects in the state included in the bill are: North Branch Susquehanna River (New York and Pennsylvania) $300,000; Oswego Outlet $305,000; Lake Chautauqua and Chada-koin River $4,796,000.
